German Casualties In Russia in Four Months 2,700,000

Huge Losses in Planes, Tanks and Guns—Soviets Continue Advances

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Germany has suffered 2,700,000 casualties, nearly 1,000,000 of them killed and captured, during four months of a Red Army offensive which threatens to hurl the Nazi army out of Russia this Winter, a special Moscow announcement said tonight.

Since July 5, when the Germans "failed disgracefully" in their own brief offensive in the Orel-Kursk-Belgorod salient, the Russians have killed 900,000 Germans and captured 98,000, half of them wounded, said the special war review.

The review, broadcast by Moscow and recorded by the Soviet monitor, was repeated three times by the radio and followed by an "Ode to Stalin," the Premier-marshal of the Soviet Union, sung by the Red Army choir.

On the basis of previous official Moscow reviews, the Germans have suffered 9,100,000 casualties since they began the most sanguinary war in history with the invasion of Russia, June 22, 1941.

ONLY 54 MILES FROM BORDER

Just before this triumphant announcement the regular daily communique announced that Red Armies had swept up to the Lower Dnieper River opposite Kherson, the Black Sea port on the west bank near the river's mouth, had captured the west-bank highway town of Dimer, only 20 miles north of the Ukraine capital at Kiev, and reached a point only 54 miles from the Latvian border in a renewed drive from the Nevel sector on the North-Central front.

Berlin broadcasts also disclosed that fresh Russian shock troops had landed on three-day-old bridgeheads near Kerch, at the eastern tip of the Crimea, which already had been sealed off on the north by Gen. Feodor Tolbukhin's vic-

Smash at Dusseldorf Biggest Yet

2,000 Tons of Bombs Fall in 27 Minutes

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—A great night fleet of British and Canadian bombers poured 2,000 tons of bombs into Dusseldorf in 27 minutes last night with a record saturation attack capping a blazing 18 hours in which British and American bombers together rocked Nazi targets with a total of 4,000 tons of bombs, the greatest day-night tonnage in history.

The Dusseldorf assault was described by the Air Ministry as "concentrated and effective."

Bombs fell at the rate of 74 tons a minute. The best previous discharge rate by the R.A.F. was 51 tons a minute in one of the raids on Hamburg.

This raid related attacks on Cologne and other Nazi targets came in trip-hammer fashion after yesterday's American daylight raid on Wilhelmshaven, in which a record 1,000 planes participated and 1,500 tons of bombs were dropped. The Air Ministry said bombs dropped in other British raids yesterday made up the 4,000-ton record.

GREATEST GROUP OF HEAVY BOMBERS

The R.C.A.F. Bomber Group sent its greatest concentration of heavy bombers with the R.A.F. against Dusseldorf and Cologne. Aircraft of the Bluenose, Iroquois, Lion and Goose squadrons were among the raiders hurling two and four-ton bombs from their four-engined Lancaster and Halifax bombers.

At dusk tonight coastal observers reported sighting waves of raiders flying out over the English south-east coast toward the Continent in a continuation of these blows. The Berlin radio later said several places in Western Germany were hit.

As Dusseldorf was hit, a small secondary R.A.F. force attacked the rail centre of Cologne, 25 miles away. The Germans again protested that the world-famous Cologne Cathedral had been damaged.

The Cologne diversion, coupled with the American daylight attack 175 miles to the north on Wilhelmshaven a few hours previously, split

Quota Passed By Esquimalt

City Needs $700,000 More in Bond Sales

Subscriptions totaling $1,250,000 over the next two days will put Greater Victoria over the top in the Fifth Victory Loan.

City officials are gratified at the increased tempo of the last few days and express the hope that the $700,000 required to place the city unit among those reaching their objective will be forthcoming. Oak Bay and Saanich, however, must accelerate considerably to attain their quotas. They each require over $300,000.

Esquimalt, reflecting final payroll returns and an enthusiastic response from its citizens, came from behind other units at noon yesterday to exceed its objective by $3,000.

Courtenay reported reaching its objective two days ago. Duncan reports a successful canvass over the past two days and returns are coming in at a rate which would indicate that the objective will be reached before the campaign closes on Saturday night.

Salt Spring Island, with a quota of $40,000, reached its objective last night.

Late returns show:

No Slackening By Nazi Bosses

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 4 (AP). — Evidence came from Germany today that Nazi leaders are not slackening in the war effort despite signs of growing defeatism and troubles within Austria.

The fact that a mighty fleet of American multi-motored bombers again attacked Wilhelmshaven and the R.A.F. was forced to return with more tons of explosive for Dusseldorf and Cologne was evidence that the Germans, during the last five months, succeeded in resuming production in bomb-damaged war industries.

Another sign that Germany is mustering all her available strength was seen in a report that 19 army divisions were shifted from important sectors of Europe to provide protective cover for the East Front retreat.

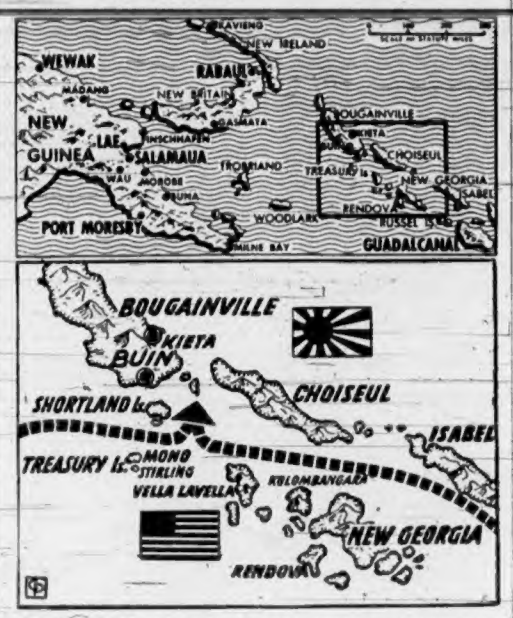
Scene of Pacific Action



SCENE of United States push to oust Japanese from remaining Solomons finds action centred, as shown by lower map, around Bougainville with its huge enemy supply base at Buin. With United States troops landed on Mono and Stirling islands and on Bougainville and Shortland and Ballale Islands to the north having been "softened up," quick island to island action can be expected. The final objective will be Rabaul and the upper map provides a general picture of the area. Strategists point out that Blanche Harbor, between Mono and Stirling, can accommodate warships and transports.

Cruiser and Four Destroyers Sunk

Japanese Losses in Pacific Battle Greater Than First Reported—Rabaul Bombed Again

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Allied Headquarters, Nov. 5 (Friday) (AP).— Japanese cruiser and four destroyers were sunk in the naval battle of United States and Japanese warships near the Allies' Bougainville beachhead, it was announced today.

Radio Tokio previously had conceded the loss of a cruiser and two destroyers in the battle, fought Tuesday morning.

The battle, which lasted more than two hours, occurred when enemy units were intercepted heading toward the Empress Augusta Bay sector on Bougainville's west coast, where American marines landed the day before.

Two other Japanese cruisers and destroyers were hit. No Allied vessels were lost in the action.

INTENSE BATTLE FOR 90 MINUTES

The Japanese force, believed to consist of four cruisers and eight destroyers, was met 40 miles from Empress Augusta. The intense phase of the action lasted 90 minutes, but South Pacific headquarters said the time of the fight and the subsequent pursuit of the fleeing enemy amounted to more than two hours.

Later the Japanese sent more than 67 planes to attack the fleet units and 17 were downed.

Thirty miles south of Bougainville, where the first phase of the Northern Solomon invasion opened October 27 with invasion of tiny Treasury Island by New Zealand and United States forces, all organized enemy resistance has ceased.

The fight against an estimated 200 Japanese there terminated Wednesday, exactly a week after the invasion opened.

Adding to the Japanese losses later on the same day of the naval

Pledges Aid For Albania

British Officers With Guerrillas

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—An Albania "freed from her Axis yoke and restored to her independence" was pledged by Prime Minister Churchill in reply to a question in the House of Commons today.

At the same time he disclosed that British liaison officers are operating with Albanian guerrillas who, he said, are counted upon to play their part "in future military developments in the Mediterranean area."

This hint, the broadest yet from any high Allied authority, that United Nations arms may make a thrust into the Balkans coincided with the summoning by Hitler of the Bulgarian Premier and Foreign Minister to the Fuehrer's headquarters, apparently for the purpose of demanding more Bulgarian divisions to police the turbulent south-eastern front.

It also coincided with the forthcoming meeting of the Turkish Foreign Minister Numan Menemencioglu with Foreign Secretary Eden and the United States Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, in Cairo.

These events—with their immense implications for the Balkans—suggested that the time for important decisions by both the Allies and the Germans is at hand.

Mr. Churchill's disclosure that Allied liaison has been established with the Albanian patriots, whose country was seized in a Good Friday invasion in 1939 by Benito Mussolini's Blackshirts, followed similar action in establishing military missions with the Yugoslavs and Greeks.

The Yugoslav partisans announced a few days ago that they had been joined by the Albanians in border fighting in Montenegro.

Buildings in Rome Mined

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio's radio said in a domestic broadcast today that refugees from Rome report the Nazis have mined all important buildings there and had stated that "they want to leave only the memory of Rome."

"German sappers have mined all large public and private buildings," said the broadcast, recorded by United States Government monitors. "Tons of explosives have been placed under all ministries. Bridges, hotels and the aqueduct that supplies water to the city also have been mined."

Sir Robert Falconer Passes at Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 4 (CP). — Sir Robert Falconer, 76, widely-known educationist and president of the University of Toronto until his retirement in 1932, died at his home here tonight after a brief illness.

Sir Robert had been ill only a few days although he had been in failing health for several years.

Born at Charlottetown, P.E.I., the son of Rev. Alexander Falconer, a Presbyterian minister, he received his early education at Queen's Royal School, Trinidad, British West Indies.

In 1892, he was appointed lecturer in New Testament Greek at Pine-hill College, Halifax, becoming professor in 1895 and principal in 1904. He was knighted in 1917.

The widow and two sons, Dr. J. Gilbert Falconer and Robert D. Falconer, survive.

A brother, Rev. J. W. Falconer, of Pine Hill United Church Theological College, Halifax, and a sister, Jean, in Nova Scotia, also survive.

Canadian Promoted To Head Division

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—Brig. Chris Vokes, of Winnipeg and Ottawa, who won the D.S.O. for leading a Western Canada infantry brigade in Sicily, has been promoted to acting major-general and given command of a division, Canadian Military Headquarters announced tonight. He is 39.

In Sicily, Vokes commanded the Second Infantry Brigade, composed of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the Loyal Edmonton Regiment and the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, a Vancouver unit. The P.P.C.L.I. is a permanent force unit.

Half of Aluminum Men Back on Job

MONTREAL, Nov. 4 (CP).—Officials of the Aluminum Company of Canada said tonight that a "substantial number" of potmen reported for work today at the Shawinigan Falls plant where production has been slowed by a partial strike.

The officials said that enough men reported for work during the day to operate more than half the pots in one line. Three pot-lines were frozen after the strike began more than ten days ago.

Meantime National Selective Service forms for notice of separation of employment have been prepared and are ready for mailing at 8 a.m. tomorrow to all men who have not been reported back at work.

Super-Flares Guide Pilots

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—Allied flyers now are using a super-flare—called a "target indicator"—which can be set by night or day from the sub-stratosphere through almost total cloud.

The new device, particularly valuable in night fog, made possible the record raid last night on Dusseldorf, the Air Ministry said, when the mist was so thick that the attack would have been difficult without it.

Pathfinder planes, reaching the target at zero hour, light the area with flares whose colors are changed for each raid to prevent the Germans faking them. Red and green were used over Dusseldorf.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—With several columns of the Red Army converging on Kherson, the battle for the Lower Dnieper, says The Times' Moscow correspondent, is almost over, and the German position from Krivoi Rog to Sevastopol has been split by a huge wedge. Once they have reoccupied the Crimea, the Russians will be only 400 miles from Rumanian oil fields.

Cossacks have been rounding up what remains of Nazi forces on the left bank of the Lower Dnieper, and are saving villages and wheat fields which the flying enemy tries to burn. Prisoners continue to increase in numbers, many of them having lost their way in the woods. The battle inside the Dnieper bend continues desperately.

According to The Times' Stockholm correspondent, Berlin spokesmen represent that struggle as still raging near Melitopol, instead of nearer Kherson. They assert the German forces inside the Crimea are very strong and that the Crimea will be defended to the last. However, other information reaching Sweden suggests that the Crimean forces cannot be large, as many units were withdrawn to the Dnieper front recently in an attempt to avert Von Manstein's defeat. If the Germans really intend to fight for the Crimea, says The Times' Military correspondent, they will have a difficult task, as the Russians, by their control of the Black Sea, can land troops anywhere on the Crimean coast and at the same time invade with superior strength from the north. Escape of the Nazis by sea will be highly hazardous.

Dealing editorially with world reactions to the Moscow conference decisions, The Times says concrete plans for three main objectives, in which all United Nations are interested, have emerged. First, victory; secondly, a just settlement of the terms of peace, and third, construction of a stable international society.

All these involve application of political power and so it is essential to bring together members of United Nations who possess that power.

BULLETINS

GERMANS REPULSED

BODRUM, Turkey, Nov. 4 (AP).—A neutral source said today a German detachment had attempted a landing on Leros, a Dodecanese island in the hands of the Allies, but were thrown back. The assault force was reported to have left behind 70 prisoners and 100 dead.

TO SUPPORT STRIKERS

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Nov. 4 (CP).—Paul Fournier, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, told a public meeting tonight that the American Federation of Labor would contribute to the support of striking Aluminum Company of Canada employees here. Mr. Fournier said Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and Elphege Beaudoin, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, had gone to Washington to discuss the strike with A.F.L. leaders, and he was confident some support would be given the strikers as a result of the meeting.

Blockade

Closing of the Norwegian-Swedish border to all traffic by German military order, points to growing German-Swedish tension and accents Hitler's fears of anti-Nazi groups gathering in Norway. Shooting down of a Swedish passenger plane recently by a German pilot created something of a crisis. Fence in map shows range of border blockade and cross indicates point off North Jutland, Denmark, where passenger plane crashed after attack.

Nazis Hurled Back at Almost Every Point of Italian Front

Italy's King?

When United States and British representatives conferred with a group of leading Italian political leaders in Naples, the shelving of King Victor Emmanuel and Crown Prince Humbert in favor of a regency for Humbert's six-year-old son, the Prince of Naples (above), was proposed.

Montgomery's Troops Capture Vital Road in Predawn Raid—

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 4 (AP).—Striking boldly in predawn darkness, troops of Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army captured the vital road junction of Isernia at the central hinge of the German line early today as the enemy reeled back in almost every sector of the Italian front.

The big road junction was believed taken by troops of the Canadian First Division, forming the Eighth Army's left wing, after a swift seven-mile northwestern advance and smashing night attack. The victory brought the Eighth Army to within 90 miles of Rome.

On the Allied Fifth Army front near the Tyrrhenian coast, retreating Nazi troops streamed across the 14-mile-wide Garigliano Valley toward their next refuge in the Arunci Mountain range, closely pursued under clearing skies by British forces that knocked them from their elaborate positions on Massico Ridge and Mount San Croce in bitter fighting yesterday.

Capture of Isernia, depriving the Germans of the only good lateral road between the two wings of their line, puts the Eighth Army astride two main roads, one running southwest through the Upper Volturno Valley and the other leading northwest towards the snow-topped peaks in the Sulmona region.

This capture permits the left-flank forces either to go downhill into the Upper Volturno Valley and outflank Venafro, for weeks the objective of the United States section of the Fifth Army, or to continue the mountain-fighting role the Canadians held for a month and push northwest to Sulmona.

PRESS THROUGH 11 MORE TOWNS

The Eighth Army pressed through 11 more towns and villages, including Roccamandolfi, six miles west of Bolano, and Castelpetroso in its drive on Isernia.

Italian King Asks Truce With Count

Makes Trip to Naples To Talk With Sforza

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ITALY, Nov. 4 (AP).—With the Italian throne in peril, King Victor Emmanuel was reported today to have sought a truce with Count Carlo Sforza through which the anti-Fascists leader would be asked to form a Government for Italy.

The King himself has made a long and difficult motor trip to Naples, heavily guarded but incognito, to meet Sforza and other leading opponents of the monarchy in what is believed to be a last desperate effort to extend his 43-year reign.

The journey became necessary after Sforza, former Italian Foreign Minister, upon his arrival recently from exile in the United States, had refused to see the King in Brindisi.

An unimpeachable source said Sforza has been conferring with Benedetto Croce, noted philosopher and leaders of Italy's six anti-Fascist political parties.

It was presumably to talk with this group and arrive at some solution for unity in a new Italian Government that the King secretly left his seat of Government in Southern Italy.

Sforza has taken the position that the King betrayed Italy in permitting the rise of Fascism, and that only the withdrawal of the Sovereign as well as Crown Prince Humbert will furnish the people with "striking evidence that all links of Fascism have been broken."

Delay Action On Agreement

Few U.S. Coal Men Obey Call to Work

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP).—After all-day study of the coal mining agreement worked out by John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, the War Labor Board tonight postponed action on it until tomorrow.

Most of the 460,000 hard and soft coal miners, on strike since Monday, remainded idle during the day. They had been instructed by officers of the United Mine Workers to go back to work as soon as possible.

The W.L.B. must approve the agreement if it is to become effective, and Ickes acknowledged today that it also probably will require an increase in the price of coal. Ickes mentioned no figures, but coal operators have estimated a similar wage contract would raise coal costs 15 to 45 cents a ton.

The extra cost arises from the fact that the miners would get time and one-half pay for all work beyond 40 hours a week and, under the Ickes-Lewis agreement, underground men would have a 52-hour week. The whole formula works out to $1.50 a day increase in earnings for soft coal miners, who get $7 for a basic seven-hour day.

Reports from the coal fields said only a comparatively handful of miners went back to work in response to the telegraphed directions from Lewis Wednesday night.

The general opinion among persons familiary with the situation is that it probably will be Monday, in any event, before full production can be resumed.

British House in Secret Session

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—The House of Commons held a brief secret session today after Prime Minister Churchill said that the time had arrived for considerating the bringing of the present parliamentary session to a close and opening a new one. It was assumed this was the subject of the secret discussion.

The House approved a £1,250,000,000 ($5,562,500,000) vote of credit—biggest of the war—making a total of £4,250,000,000 in credits for the current year to date.

May Ask Turkey For Air Bases

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP). — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who arrived in Cairo today on his way home from signing the Moscow pact, will reassure the Turkish Government on Russia's aims in the Balkans and possibly may ask for Allied air bases in Turkey.

The main purpose of his forthcoming meeting with Numan Menemencioglu, Turkish Foreign Minister, is to set at rest Turkey's long-standing apprehensions about Soviet influence and operations in the Black Sea area and in the Balkans.

This is expected to frustrate effectively Germany's hard-pushed propaganda campaign based on recent Soviet press criticism of Turkey's neutrality, which some Russian newspapers have said helped the Axis more than it did the Allies.

The feeling has been expressed in London that Eden also may use the Portuguese precedent to persuade Turkey to permit Allied air bases in the country.

Miners Given Proposal For Strike Settlement

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—The Government tonight placed before United Mine Workers officials a proposal intended to send 8,500 striking coal miners in Western Canada back to work.

Nature of the proposal was not disclosed but when the third conference between Labor Minister Mitchell and his aides and the miners' delegation broke up it was evident both sides were optimistic that the Government's plan approved at a four-hour Cabinet meeting this afternoon might end the strike which has halved the Dominion's coal production for the past four days.

Tonight's meeting marked a definite turning point in the discussions, which opened here Tuesday.

Earlier today, the union representatives, headed by Robert Livett, District 18, U.M.W.A., president, had made train reservations to return West, apparently unhopeful of any increase in their negotiations. On the request of the Labor Department they canceled the reservations in order to hold their third meeting with the minister.

As they came from Mr. Mitchell's office tonight they were smiling. Mr. Livett said: "Well, we have something to sleep on. We might iron things out."

He would give no indication of the nature of the matter they were "to sleep on." Mr. Mitchell restricted his comment to: "We had a nice chat."

It was learned on good authority, however, that tonight for the first time in the discussions a definite proposal was placed before the men for their approval.

It was understood the delegation gave indications of a readiness to accept but wanted an opportunity to discuss it among themselves and confer with other officers of District 18. Any proposal which may be tentatively adopted by the delegation now in Ottawa will have to be finally ratified by the district membership.

50,000 Idle In Scotland And England

Aero-Engine Workers And Miners Strike

LONDON, Nov. 4 (CP).—More than 50,000 British workers were idle tonight as the result of disputes in west of Scotland aero-engine factories and three English coal mining districts.

In the aero-engine factories dispute 24,000 strikers, including 15,000 women, refused to return to work despite an appeal by shop stewards, trade union and Government officials at a mass meeting today at the Glasgow Greyhound track.

Ben Smith, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Aircraft Production, warned the strikers that Britain's air war was being seriously harmed by the five-day-old dispute over grading up of wages.

In a new dispute, 2,500 men and boys struck against employment of boys on a day-to-day basis at the Horden Colliery in Durham County, one of Britain's biggest pits.

In the Chesterfield district of Derbyshire, 3,000 miners in two collieries remained idle as the result of a walk-out which began Tuesday because of general dissatisfaction with the district pay for cutting coal.

A strike of 24,000 miners in Hatfield Colliery, near Doncaster, entered its sixth day.

Quebec First Province To Exceed Loan Quota

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—National Loan headquarters announced tonight that Quebec Province has oversubscribed its Fifth Victory Loan objective of $326,000,000 by 1 per cent, first province to go over the top in the 18-day campaign for $1,200,000,000.

Impetus of Quebec's oversubscription was given today by the Sun Life Assurance Company's investment of $22,500,000.

The grand national total was announced today as $1,061,616,200—approximately $150,000,000 from the minimum objective. Wednesday's sales totaled $72,379,700, well above the daily average of $66,666,000 required to meet the national quota within the campaign period.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen today subscribed $550,000 through their Ottawa office, duplicating their subscription of the Fourth Loan.

Officials of the brotherhood said their membership comprises approximately 82 per cent of all conductors, trainmen and yardmen in railway service and "these men are subscribing individually and collectively through railway employee groups and payroll savings in addition to their organization effort."

UPWARD SURGE IN GENERAL SALES

In all provinces, an upward trend in general sales was also noted, partly on the strength of Wednesday's increased numbers of subscriptions and partly upon "buoyant determination indicated by various provincial organizations replying to headquarters inquiries," loan officials said tonight.

Wednesday's applications from individuals numbered 152,245, against 131,927 the previous day. The cumulative total of all subscriptions to the Fifth Loan now stands at 1,751,735, compared with 1,465,910 at the same stage of the fourth campaign.

A cable to headquarters places overseas subscriptions of the armed services at better than $3,000,000. The army leads with 27,332 applications for $2,447,150; the R.C.A.F. has 4,856 applications for $522,400, and the navy 443 for $41,700.

Army returns to the end of the 15th day give a total of 148,105 applications for $14,056,300, 141 per cent of the original objective of $10,000,000.

Ottawa headquarters of the Veterans Guard of Canada released an interim report showing 75 per cent of its units have raised $252,350, against a quota of $203,817.

The R.C.A.F. has already exceeded its original objective of $8,000,000 by well over $4,000,000, and with three days of canvassing remaining the total stands at $12,330,200, 154.1 per cent of objective.

Totals by commands are: No. 1, Toronto, $2,112,350; No. 2, Winnipeg, $1,708,800; No. 3, Montreal, $1,810,850; No. 4, Calgary, $1,939,000; Eastern Air Command, Halifax, $2,055,550; Western Air Command, Vancouver, $1,001,650; Headquarters, Ottawa, $442,400.

As the campaign draws to a close, enthusiasm is mounting among cities driving towards their total objectives and general sales and payroll savings objectives. Medicine Hat, Alta., was able to wire its provincial headquarters as follows: "Medicine Hat and district put the best unit in Alberta over our quota today with a handsome margin. Our sleeves are rolled up to reach the million mark before the doors close on Saturday."

Due to a misunderstanding as to the method of reporting to headquarters, Medicine Hat's general canvass subscriptions have been reported on a daily rather than a cumulative basis. Headquarters said it now was made clear, however, that general sales of $51,550 in one day gave it $944,800, 105 per cent of its total objective.

With 99 per cent, Owen Sound, Ont., now heads cities short of their general sales objectives. Other challengers include Edmonton, 89; Vancouver, 87.8; Halifax, 86; Valleyfield, Que., 84.2; Moose Jaw, 84, and Calgary, 81.

Investment by fire and casualty companies in the Fifth Victory Loan, in addition to those previously announced, include Beaver Fire Insurance Co., Winnipeg, $15,000.

Large subscriptions reported today included the North American Life Assurance Co., Toronto, $4,000,000; City of Vancouver sinking fund, $700,000; Bronfman interests and B. Aaron, Montreal, $2,000,000; Distillers Corporation-Seagram Companies, $1,000,000; James MacLaren Co., Ltd., Buckingham, Que, $1,200,000.

The War Today—

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Startling new estimates from Switzerland of the havoc being wrought on German morale by bombing attacks from Britain heavily underscore the mass Anglo-[illegible] Dusseldorf and Cologne.

Die Nation, a Berne weekly, sets the total of bombed-out or evacuated citizens of the Reich at 8,000,000. This means that a tenth or more of the population of Germany has been routed from its homes, yet the long night of dread which this coming Winter holds for Germans has hardly begun. Allied cross-bombing from Italian as well as British bases still is to get in full stride. Russian participation of co-operation to make it a three-way attack on the roofless Nazi citadel is yet to be reckoned with.

That German public confidence in Nazi leadership must be shaken to its foundations cannot be doubted, although the Swiss weekly disputes the assumption that the German army military caste is preparing to discard Hitler and all he stands for as a preliminary to peace feelers. It contends that the Junkers must retain him to save their own hides. He must remain the symbol of personal responsibility for all the woes he has brought on Germany to the world and to his own people, it is asserted.

That does not agree with most British and American informed opinion as to the course the German military caste is likely to follow when the inevitable hour comes to admit defeat and make the best peace possible. Official thought in London and Washington has attached great significance to the fact that it was the army high command, not Hitler or his Nazi military stooges, who summoned recent conferences of leading German personalities of all walks to discuss the darkening war outlook.

This was stressed recently by Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador in Washington. He brought back with him from London word that British authorities are prepared for anything to happen in Germany at any time but also are ready and determined to carry the war forward aggressively to the bitter end, however long it takes or hard the going.

Former President Herbert Hoover capped that before a Congressional committee yesterday (Thursday) with the prediction that this probably would be the "last Winter" of the war in Europe. And the Swiss estimates of the cumulative effect of ever intensifying Allied bombing attacks on German public morale do nothing to lessen the force of those British and American appraisals of the situation.

Dusseldorf Raid

the German aerial defence so effectively that losses were relatively small. From a force of possibly 700 or more planes, the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. lost 19 or less, a communique figure of 19 embracing simultaneous Mosquito raids over Western Germany, intruder operations in France and mine laying. Of the total, four of the thirty-eight a[illegible] the missing planes were Canadian.

Dusseldorf is a city of 500,000, which houses the great Rheinmeal Iron Works and the Vereinigte Steel Works, one of Germany's "Big Four" industrial outfits. It is Germany's third ranking industrial port.

The Iroquois squadron leader, Wing Cmdr. Bill Newson, of Calgary, said it was a "good pranging." F.O. F. W. Winter, of Toronto, reported it was so bright over the target that airmen could see plainly the streets and river below.

Members of the Goose squadron participating included P.O. Jim McKay, of Dodsland, Sask., and Flt. Sgt. Maurice Prill, Lymburn, Alta.

Many Canadians also flew in R.A.F. Stirlings and Wellingtons, including P.O. J. L. Dobbyn, Melita, Man.

Other R.C.A.F. members participating were Flt. Sgt. W. C. Patterson, Edwin, Man.; P.O. W. R. Block 4276 West Eighth Avenue, Vancouver; P.O. M. G. Utas, Lacombe, Alta.; Sgt. E. C. Baker, Tompkins, Sask., and F.O. R. V. Smutse, Estevan, Sask.

Marigny Denies Slaying Oakes

NASSAU, Bahamas, Nov. 4 (AP).—Alfred de Marigny firmly denied in Bahamas Supreme Court today that he murdered his father-in-law, Sir Harry Oakes, Canadian mining millionaire.

There was ill-feeling, he admitted, but De Marigny said he was five miles away, in his own home and bed, about the time Sir Harry was bludgeoned and left to die last July in a flaming bedroom in his ocean-front estate, Westbourne.

Prompted by Chief Defence Counsel Godfrey Higgs, De Marigny related the details of his courtship and marriage to Sir Harry's daughter, Nancy, and of his subsequent troubles with her family after she underwent an operation.

Relations with Sir Harry reached a breaking point last March 30, he said, during a 4 a.m. quarrel which started when Sir Harry came to the De Marigny home, yanked his young son, Sidney, out of bed and told him to "Get the hell out of this house."

"I never spoke to him again," De Marigny declared.

During an earlier quarrel, he said, Sir Harry referred to 19-year-old Nancy as "the girl in your house" who has "caused trouble for her mother and me and I don't want anything to do with her."

He said as far as he was concerned, Nancy was going to get nothing from him, and he spelled n-o-t-h-i-n-g in a loud voice," De Marigny added.

De Marigny recalled that he had threatened to "knock Sir Harry out of the room" if the millionaire bothered Nancy while she was in the hospital.

Then Higgs asked him to tell about his activities during the night of the slaying, July 7-8.

There was a dinner party at his home July 7, he related, and he drove two guests to their homes near Westbourne about 1 a.m.

"I drove back to the house," he continued.

He undressed and went to bed, he said, being awakened once by the noise of a fight between his dog and the cat, Grisou, owned by the Marquis George de Visdomo, who was living also at the Victoria Street cottage.

De Marigny said he arose early the next morning and went to his chicken farm. He did not learn of Sir Harry's death, he added, until he was hailed on a downtown street by Banker John H. Anderson, who broke the news.

De Marigny told of driving to Westbourne with Anderson. They stopped at the nearby cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Newell Kelly, and talked about the death.

De Marigny said he went alone to Westbourne, where he learned from the conservation that his father-in-law had been struck on the head and the bed set afire. De Marigny made no attempt to claim that he entered the death room at this time.

The Crown has based its case largely on a fingerprint reported found on a bedscreen in the room, and defence attorneys through cross-examination have suggested that De Marigny might have touched the screen after the body was discovered.

Nearing the conclusion of his direct examination, Higgs suddenly asked:

"Did you on the night of July 7 or the morning of July 8 go to Westbourne?"

"I did not," and De Marigny's voice was firm.

"Did you kill Sir Harry Oakes?"

The witness threw back his head, and his eyes flashed.

"No, sir! No, sir!"

A few more questions, and De Marigny had finished laying his story before an attentive jury. Tomorrow he will face cross-examination.

LUMBERMAN DIES

KENORA, Ont., Nov. 4 (CP).—Capt. George McPherson, well-known lumberman for more than 50 years, died here today. He was superintendent of logging for the Keewatin Lumber Company for many years. Survivors include a brother, William, of Revelstoke, B.C.

Employment Increase at September 1 Smaller Than in Any Recent Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—General industrial employment in Canada rose during August, but the increase at September 1 was "considerably smaller" than in any recent year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said today, putting the blame on a "leveling-off" partly due to labor shortages and partly to changes in type of production in some war industries.

The 13,934 establishments reporting to the bureau at September 1 said they were employing 1,870,836 men and women, compared with 1,868,542 at August 1. The gain of 2,294 workers or 0.1 per cent brought the index—on the base 1926 equals 100—to 186.2, compared with 185.9 at August 1 and 179.3 at September 1, 1942.

Manufacturing establishments showed "considerably heightened" activity, recording a gain of 11,253 employees.

Additions to personnel September 1 this year were fairly evenly divided between the durable and non-durable goods divisions, with those in iron and steel and vegetable foods being greatest. Reductions were shown in chemical plants.

Among non-manufacturing industries the trend was mixed, "moderately upward" in communications, transportation, services and trade and downward in logging and mining and construction.

The co-operating firms reported disbursement of weekly salaries and wages totaling $58,516,943 at September 1, compared with $58,044,447 at the beginning of August. The per capita average advanced from $31.06 at August 1 to $31.28 at the beginning of September.

Italian Front

A savage battle was reported raging around the railway station of San Salvo at the Adriatic end of the front, where the British right wing of the Eighth Army gained its original bridgehead across the Trigno River. The Germans threw at least 20 tanks into furious counter-attacks, but at the end of a day of bloody fighting Montgomery's men were reported to have driven them back, gained some new ground and taken prisoners.

Improved weather enabled the Fifth Army commander, Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark, to rush tanks and heavy artillery into the pounding pursuit of the Germans along the two main highways to Rome; less than 85 miles away.

The enemy's flight across the Garigliano Valley was being carried out under the protection of the most extensive demolitions and minefields yet left in the Allies' path.

At the end of yesterday's fighting, Clark's troops had clawed their way beyond the town of Sessa Aurunca, on the main coastal road (the Appian Way), only about four miles from the Garigliano River. In reaching Sessa Aurunca, British troops fought through a narrow, heavily-defended corridor on the inland side of Massico Mountain.

EIGHT-MILE GAIN ON 40-MILE FRONT

Scores of towns and villages were swept up as the Fifth Army dug out gains of from five to eight miles along a 40-mile front. In addition to Sessa Aurunca, Clark's forces took Roccamofina, high on San Croce Mountain, and Presenzano, seven miles south of Venafro, one of the enemy's main central bastions. An Allied communique described these as "satisfactory advances."

The sudden smashing of the Massico line has enabled the Fifth Army to start a new drive with terrific momentum while the Germans still are falling back to their new defences based on the Aurunci Mountain Range.

The Aurunci line presents an unbroken front of mountainous terrain, pierced only by a main inland road toward Rome through a narrow gap at Mignano, six miles from Venafro. At present, American forces are only five miles from Mignano on the Via Casilina.

Allied air forces enjoyed one of their busiest days of the war as they blazed away at German troop concentrations and gun positions along the entire front and raked supply lines in what headquarters called "countless missions."

Light and medium bombers exploded an enemy supply dump near Cupello, southwest of Vasto on the Adriatic, and ripped up railway yards, airdromes, roads and bridges over a wide area. Ten Nazi transport planes were destroyed on the ground at Averzano. Two Allied planes were lost from all missions, against a single German craft shot down.

SPOKES CLUBS

About thirty members of the Spokes Club, a branch of Rotary, met last night at dinner at the Douglas Hotel, when F. Turley was speaker of the evening, choosing as his subject, "China and the Burma Road." Chairman was William Clark, and John Tabor said grace. The meal was accompanied by community singing, and James Nimmo thanked the speaker, who was introduced by Wilf Green. T. H. Johnson was asked to constructively criticize the speaker. Tom McConnell and George Mathison were at receipt of custom.

New U.S. Super-Bomber Produced at Seattle

SEATTLE, Nov. 4 (AP).—The new super-bomber of the United States Air Force, the B-29, the subject of numerous reports and much conjecture, was identified officially for the first time today as a product of Seattle's Boeing Aircraft Company.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the Army Air Forces, lifted the curtain of secrecy in a statement at Washington, D.C., today in which he said the B-29 "was evolved in secrecy during the past several years."

His statement made it possible to tell for the first time that it was a B-29 which crashed into the Frye packing plant here last February, killing more than 30 people in the worst aerial accident in Northwest history.

B-29's have been in evidence at Boeing Field for nearly a year. They can be seen over the city nearly every day, but to the layman the ship in flight looks like a B-17 Fortress.

General Arnold expressed the belief the new super-bomber is as far ahead of the B-17 and the B-24 Liberator as these four-engined ships "are out in front of prewar bombers."

He said other aircraft plants also would join in production.

CAN FLY AT HIGH ALTITUDE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Details of the United States Army's new Boeing B-29 heavy bomber were announced today.

General H. H. Arnold, air forces chief, said:

"This battleship of the air," Arnold said, "is armored heavily with multiple-gun and power turrets. It can fly at very high altitudes.

"Its performance will not be discussed before it enters combat. However, the B-29 will have a range substantially greater than the maximum effective range of today's longest-range heavy bomber and it will carry quite sizeable bomb loads for that distance.

"When it enters combat, today's long range will become medium range and today's heavy bombers will consequently become light heavies."

The final test of the B-29 is not now far distant, he said.

fight were three destroyers sunk and two heavy cruisers damaged by Allied bombers during a heavy raid on shipping at Rabaul.

The navy battle was fought in darkness and during rain squalls.

After the Japanese force broke off the fight, scattering in three groups toward Rabaul, the Allied units regrouped for the expected enemy air attacks, which came after dawn.

Although no Allied ship losses occurred, "damage and casualties were sustained," headquarters said.

The American forces in the naval battle manoeuvred brilliantly, dividing the Japanese task force and bringing the vessels under direct fire.

Today's communique reported yet another strike at Rabaul, the eighth since October 12. Obviously in small force, medium bombers on night patrol started fires at the Tobera airdrome, one of five such fields at Rabaul. Near there an 8,000-ton merchantman was bombed and sunk off Cape Pomas to add to the approximately 100,000 tons of shipping sunk or damaged at Rabaul Tuesday.

LINDSAY, Ont., Nov. 4 (CP)—Howard McGinnis, 34-year-old Lindsay laborer, was sentenced tonight to 12 years in jail after an Ontario Supreme Court jury found him guilty of manslaughter in the shotgun slaying last February 6 of William Howard, 31-year-old Peterborough, Ont., Indian.

torious steppe armies clearing the Nogaisk Steppes.

Tolbukhin's forces are preparing to hurdle that broad barrier to link up with two other Russian armies tightening the sack on tens of thousands of Germans fighting between the Krivoi Rog and Dnepropetrovsk, inside the river's big bend.

The Russians swept up 30 more towns in their final clean-up of the steppes between the bend and the Crimea, including Aleskhi, just across the river from Kherson. At this point, the Russians were only 120 miles from the old Rumanian border.

Seventy localities were taken in the nevel sector, including Novokhovansk, 11 miles southeast of Nevel and 54 miles from the Latvian border. The Russians are headed for the railway city of Polotsk, and are outflanking Vitebsk, 50 miles to the southeast.

GIVE FIGURES OF NAZI LOSSES

With Soviet fighter planes already within easy range of the Rumanian, Polish and Baltic State borders, the special Moscow review gave these figures of German material losses since July 5:—

	Destroyed	Captured	Total
Planes	9,900	289	10,189
Tanks	15,490	2,300	17,706
Guns	13,000	6,500	19,500
Armored Cars	890	190	1,080
Mortars	13,000	6,180	19,180
Machine Guns	50,000	24,460	74,460

In addition, the Russians destroyed or captured 60,500 trucks, 900 tractors, 2,500 motorcycles, 13,000 ammunition wagons, 4,000 Freight cars, 300 locomotives, 2,000 various supply dumps, 7,759,000 shells, 3,600,000 various mines and 300,000 air bombs, and other booty.

Hurling the Germans back as much as 270 miles, the Russians regained 135,000 square miles of territory, captured 38,000 localities, of which 162 were important towns, "and liberated millions of Soviet people from Fascist slavery."

The recaptured territory, which included great stretches of rich Ukraine farmlands and the prodigious mineral resources of the Donets Basin, "considerably increases the economic resources of the Soviet Union and still further strengthens the power of the Red Army," the special announcement said.

The Red Army's power from the beginning had been under-estimated by the Germans, Moscow said, as soon became evident when the Nazi High Command launched its brief offensive on July 5 in the Orel-Kursk and Kursk-Belgorod sectors.

The enemy had hoped to break through and annihilate huge Russian forces there, "and thus to decide the war in his favor" by gaining a springboard for another leap at Moscow, the announcement said.

"The results of the Summer battles showed that this new German strategic plan was based on an unreal estimation of the relation of forces, was adventurous, from beginning to end, and failed disgracefully."

The Germans were "bled white" in that week-old attempt to repeat their successful 1941 and 1942 Summer offensives, then the Russians seized the initiative July 12 to begin their first victorious Summer campaign, one that merged with the Fall offensive still raging along a 1,200-mile front.

KILL 2,000 NAZIS IN ONE DAY

A midnight communique supplement said Tolbukhin's steppe army killed 2,000 Germans today in a methodical annihilation of German remnants clinging to the eastern banks of the Lower Dnieper, and destroyed 26 tanks, 100 trucks carrying troops and supplies, and other equipment.

German broadcasts said the Russians already had crossed the Dnieper between Berislav and Nikopol in the sector north of Kherson, but claimed the units reaching the west bank were wiped out.

Inside the bend, the Soviet supplement said the Russians killed 800 more Germans and captured prisoners in an advance that overran several more localities southwest of Dnepropetrovsk. The Red Army last was reported within 40 miles of Krivoi Rog in its efforts to join the Russian units besieging that city for more than a week.

Captured German soldiers were quoted as saying that the Nazi 46th Infantry Division had been so chewed up by heavy losses that its remnants were being removed from the Dnieper Bend fighting.

Moscow was silent about the Crimean fighting, but Berlin broadcasts persistently told of heavy fighting north and south of Kerch on the eastern tip where Soviet amphibious forces stormed ashore after crossing the straits from the Caucasus.

The Germans also said the Russians still were attacking across Perekop Isthmus at the northwestern gateway to the Crimea.

North of Kiev, where the Russians were declared by Berlin to be trying to encircle the Ukraine Capital, the Moscow supplement said the Germans were bringing up forces from other sectors in a frantic attempt to stem the Soviet advance. An entire German regiment (perhaps 2,000 men) was wiped out during the day, the bulletin added, and 34 field guns, a regimental ammunition store and other material captured.

The awards announced today are in addition to 52 decorations, made public September 23, to soldiers of the Canadian First Division who also fought in Sicily. Those awards included 10 D.S.O.'s, 16 M.C.'s, three D.C.M.'s and 23 M.M.'s.

Of today's D.S.O. winners, Brig. Matthews commands the artillery of a Canadian army division overseas and gained his initial experience with the non-permanent active militia. He is the son of Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews of Ontario.

Brig. Hoffmeister is another officer now an active service who started his military career in the non-permanent active militia. His home is in Vancouver and prior to enlistment he was sales manager of a lumber firm on the West Coast. His wife, Mrs. Amber Donalda Hoffmeister, and daughter, Margot Aldyne, reside at Vancouver.

Costello Clowns After Son Drowns

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 4 (AP).—Lou Costello, the comedian, laughed and joked in his usual style on a national radio programme tonight, but his heart was breaking.

A few hours earlier his one-year-old son, Lou, Jr., had drowned in a swimming pool on the family estate.

The rotund comedian was wisecracking at a N.B.C. rehearsal this afternoon when word reached him that his boy had crawled out of his crib and fallen into the pool.

Lou insisted on going through with the broadcast, and with his partner, Bud Abbott, he clowned as well as ever.

There were tears in Lou's eyes as he finished his programme.

Abbott stepped to the microphone as his partner left and told the audience of Lou's tragedy.

The child was one of three born to the Costellos.

and China form a nucleus around which other nations can combine without any subordinate status.

That the Dominions must be fully consulted at all stages in the execution of the Moscow decisions, is emphasized by Australian External Affairs Minister Doctor Evatt, according to The Times' Canberra correspondent. He argues that while there is obviously no intention to establish exclusive three-power management for Europe, nevertheless other members of the British Commonwealth require prior consultation and agreement in carrying out what the three powers have arranged.

Allied progress in Italy, says The Times' Algiers correspondent, brings the strategically important town of Iserana within range of their artillery. The Eighth Army has established a second bridgehead across the River Trigno. The air offensive is again on a formidable scale, with Spitfires of the desert air force doing great damage to trains, including petrol wagons. Landings by sea at Termoli last month were effected by a Canadian Three Rivers rank regiment and Irish brigade.

Snow has appeared on the mountain peaks to the north of Allied positions, a reminder that roads may soon be blocked and snow ploughs needed.

In dealing with a United States plan for a $10,000,000,000 world investment bank, The Times' special correspondent raises doubts about proposals which would give it the right to veto loans and investments, according to its own criterion of soundness or unsoundness.

Is it any given country's primary duty, asks The Times, to put its house in order to avoid unemployment and guard against economic depression inside its borders? Or is its primary duty to balance its financial accounts, even at cost of unemployment, a falling national income, and a consequently falling need for imports.

The rule that an unbalanced budget meant no international loans might exclude precisely those countries that were most deserving.

DEPOSITS INCREASE

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP)—Dominion Government deposits increased $73,084,000 to $138,733,000 during the week ended November 3, the Bank of Canada reported today in its weekly statement.

Chartered bank deposits increased $14,284,000 to $316,343,000 and notes in circulation increased $5,651,000 to $840,092,000.

Coast A.R.P. Kept Intact

View Possibility Of Enemy Attack

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—A.R.P. volunteers in Quebec, west of the confluence of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, and in all of Ontario, now may be excused from further duty due to lessened risk of air attack, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today.

In British Columbia, the Maritime Provinces and Quebec east of the confluence of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, there should be "no relaxation by A.R.P. organizations," which should be maintained "intact and in a state of constant readiness," Mr. King's statement said, adding:

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that in no other way can the dangers of enemy attack be met."

In these areas where A.R.P. should be continued there is "either a definite risk of attack or a possibility of attack."

The Prime Minister's statement was based on a reassessment by the Cabinet War Committee of the risk of air attack in various parts of Canada, "in view of changed war conditions."

He added:

"The value of the training received by volunteers and by their organizations has been proved so great that communities may decide to continue the organizations, in areas where the risk of air attack is thought no longer to prevail, as auxiliaries to existing bodies protecting life and property."

The Government desired to express its appreciation of the efforts of these volunteers and consideration was being given to issuing certificates to them.

A.R.P. officials said they estimate that from 90,000 to 100,000 A.R.P. workers would be excused further duty under the reassessment.

Brigadier-Gen. Alex Ross, A.R.P. director, said he anticipates that disposition of equipment on loan from the Dominion will be a "matter of negotiation," as some of the organizations might wish to continue operations as a community service and would seek to retain at least part of the fire fighting and similar apparatus.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., drew attention to the importance of the A.R.P. services a few days ago, when he said the people should always consider the possibility of a resumption of belligerent activity in the North Pacific.

"That splendid organization of voluntary effort that gave a lift to morale in the dark days following Pearl Harbor should be maintained," he said.

Cut Age for Enlistment

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4 (CP)—Reduction of army enlistment age from 45 to 38 years except in special cases was announced in a Defence Department order received at Pacific Command Headquarters today.

The order is as follows:

"Enlistment of volunteers will be restricted to those who have attained their 18th birthday but not their 38th birthday.

"In individual cases, recruits will be accepted who have reached their 38th but not their 45th birthday. Have trade or technical qualifications, and are considered physically able to carry out the special duties for which they are enlisted.

"Personnel who are coal miners, coal deliverymen or science students may not be enlisted except by special order."

Fisheries Report

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4 (CP)—Weekly bulletin of the Dominion Fisheries Department, issued today, reports pilchard catch to October 30 was 77,840 tons. Meal tons stand at 13,984 and oil gallonage is 1,982,104.

Canned salmon pack total now stands at 1,195,081 cases.

Herring production is 7,723 tons caught and 156,402 cases packed. Herring not packed totaled 59 tons fresh, 37 tons mealed, 32 tons bait.

SEATTLE, Nov. 4 (AP)—President R. J. Lamont, of the Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Corporation, said today that a new contract for 13 aircraft carriers will keep the firm's Tacoma yards busy well into 1945."

The carrier contract was disclosed first to a House Naval Affairs subcommittee at Portland by Capt. J. D. Barner, senior naval officer at Astoria.

The carriers will be larger than the "vest pocket" type now under construction on freighter-type hulls, and the contract was reported to total between $150,000,000 and $180,000,000.

The Last Long Pull

At noon yesterday, Victoria City needed $702,500 in the Fifth Victory Loan, with 48 hours to go. In the city proper, $3,497,500 had been subscribed towards an objective of $4,200,000. Similarly, in the neighboring municipalities the campaign had come to the steep of the hill, the place that tests a community's staying power. A re-canvass of subscribers had begun, and a fresh search for others who have not as yet invested in the Fifth Victory Loan.

Across Canada, meanwhile, the people in Canadian cities, towns, villages and rural areas had rolled up a total of more than $1,000,000,000 in bond investments in the current loan. The national objective of $1,200,000,000 seemed assured. The question is, where will Greater Victoria stand in that result when the last figures are reported, the last bond subscribed? The answer lies entirely with ourselves. If individuals who have bought no bonds will do so now, if others who have acquired bonds could handle still a little more, Greater Victoria can be in the pennant class before the drive closes.

The arguments have all been said. What matters now is the heart. Who is for the fight when the way is hard? Who will pull when there is some weight on the traces? Who will help at the steep of the hill? It is within the power of most individuals to buy a $50 bond. If 14,050 individuals do so, the $702,500 needed in Victoria City would be raised. And that would be the best way to have it, each helping a little in a common cause. Never had the world a greater cause—human freedom!

Poppies for Remembrance

It will be a sad tryst that many will keep with November 11 this year, in memory of those who have died in action for Canada in two great wars, the old and the new. In a sense, both conflicts have been the same, one the resumption, and continuation in still more bitter form, of the other. Both have been for human freedom against barbarians who challenged that freedom. Brave men again have forfeited their lives for a principle. Although nothing can bring them back, there will be a pride in this land that they died so, in defence of the right.

For many, the Flanders poppy has become the symbol of that remembrance. The wild flower grew in many a field left barren by the red tide of war. At times it was the only trace of color that could be seen in a countryside. Its replica, made by veterans and sold on behalf of veterans, will make its appearance on city streets soon, as Remembrance Day draws near. This time the Flanders poppy will recall those who laid down their lives in wars a quarter of a century apart, in 1914-18 or from 1939 up to the present moment.

This, no less than the last, has been a long and bitter conflict. If, happily, we are today facing the dawn of a brighter day it is because brave men gave their lives to bring this about. More than 60,000 Canadians laid down their lives in the Great War. The casualties in the present conflict have mercifully been lighter, but they are not over yet. For each and every one of those who have made the supreme sacrifice there will be in Canada nothing but humble and grateful hearts. They died that we might live. Poppies are for remembrance, and never may we forget.

A Regretted Step

The disbanding of the Second Battalion of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, now confirmed, is a hard blow not only to volunteers who have been for four years on active service with it, but also to Victoria and Vancouver Island communities where the unit was raised. The regiment itself was founded in 1920, commemorating the fighting Sixteenth Canadian Infantry Battalion of the Great War, which won The Oaks at the Second Battle of Ypres in a midnight charge on Kitchener's Wood.

The Canadian Scottish Regiment fielded three battalions in this war. The First Battalion has been overseas for a long time. The Second Battalion has been on active service in British Columbia and Alberta since the start of hostilities in 1939, and has been in existence since 1930, when authority for its creation was given. These officers and men are volunteers, and their transfer now to other units can only take place at a loss to themselves, to this community and to Canada. Esprit de corps in the Highland unit was noteworthy, and nothing will take its place in a hurry.

It will be regretted genuinely that military authorities in Canada have not found some means, short of the breaking up of long-established units, of effecting whatever reorganization may have become necessary in the Canadian Army as a whole. By reason of its length of service, its battle honors and the calibre of the officers and men composing a fighting force, the Canadian Scottish Regiment should have been among the last to suffer any impairment of its regimental existence. Long, hard years of organization and training are being thrown away, and more is the pity.

The Coming Plebiscite

Under the Municipal Act in British Columbia a Police Commission has two main functions: to decide the number of peace officers that are required for the adequate protection of a community, and what remuneration they shall be paid. A Police Commission is not authorized to make law, nor to suspend the operation of any law that stands unrepealed. Its concern with the administration of justice is advisory rather than actual or direct. It is the police who must enforce the law. Everywhere Police Commissions have strayed from that concept they have engineered trouble for themselves. Particularly has this been so where they have attempted to interpret the law, which is the function of the courts.

The subject is of interest because in Victoria City civic electors will be asked to vote at the December polls as to whether or not they wish to return to the elective system in the choice of a Police Commission. That system prevailed for a number of years in the past. It was laid aside under special circumstances, and at the request of the City Fathers of that day. For a time the Police Commission in Victoria was appointed, and included a member of the judiciary, a police magistrate and the Mayor of the City. Later that was again varied, and the trust fell back upon aldermanic hands.

While some argument could be advanced in favor of each of the various systems, the present arrangement here does not appear to have worked any too smoothly. There have been misunderstandings and differences, and some disagreement as to what the function of a Police Commission is. Under the law that is clear enough. The main obligation of a Police Commission is to keep its hands off the law, and see that the police are able to do their work. That function should not be difficult in Victoria, which has an efficient Police Force, under trained heads.

How Long Is a Mile?

How long is a mile? The answer, of course, is 5,280 feet; but that is not a complete answer. Miles seem long or short according to the circumstances under which they are trudged. It is 17 miles to one air station in this area, four miles to a naval station, and anywhere from half a mile to 37 miles to various army posts. Men on leave from these posts often are given a lift to town by passing motorists; but some times they are passed up. Sometimes, single-passenger cars go sailing by leaving a disappointed sailor, soldier or airman, who may have several times 5,280 feet to hike before he reaches the end of his immediate journey. Their hours of leave are usually short. Men must return to barracks after a very few hours at most. Every lift on the way extends that leave, and makes it more enjoyable. And these are the things men remember later, when they go into action under fire. Admittedly circumstances alter cases, but in most cases every time a man in uniform is left standing on the road harm is done to this country and to its war effort. So the complete answer to how long is a mile is not its lineal measurement, but in the circumstances under which it is passed. A mile may be merely two minutes of pleasant conversation. Perhaps more of them should.

The British Eighth Army fought its way into Isernia yesterday, with the Canadians up in front with the best of General Sir Bernard Montgomery's men. That is where Victoria will want to be, too, when the Fifth Victory Loan campaign is over up in front with the best of Canada, the fighting part.

To My Son

Not long ago it seems he nestled in my arms,
And now so strong and tall he's grown.
Can it be true he wants to leave me soon
To fight beside some other mothers' sons?

Up in the sky they roar, your sons and maybe mine.
Their love is strong, so ours must keep the pace,
Then grant that though our hearts are oft-times sad
Our prayers will soar to meet them in the skies.

"Believe Me, If All . . ."

Believe me, if all those endearing young charms,
Which I gaze on so fondly today,
Were to change by tomorrow, and fleet in my arms,
Like fairy-gifts fading away,
Thou wouldst still be adored, as this moment thou art,
Let the loveliness fade as it will,
And around the dear ruin each wish of my heart
Would entwine itself verdantly still.

It is not while beauty and youth are thine own,
And thy cheeks unprofaned by a tear,
That the fervor and faith of a soul can be known,
To which time will but make thee more dear;
No, the heart that has truly loved never forgets,
But as truly loves on to the close,
As the sunflower turns on her god, when he sets,
The same look which she turn'd when he rose.

On the Record—

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE LEGAL DILEMMA OF GERMAN SURRENDER

When the German Army, which already knows that it has lost the war, decides to surrender, how will it go about it?

Inability to answer this question may prolong the war. Armies can go on fighting for considerable time after they have lost a war, when they have space to manoeuvre in, as the Germans have. But they never do it by choice. Generals are more cold blooded about winning or losing wars than civilians are. Defeat always enters their calculations. After the last war many German civilians committed suicide, notably Albert Ballin, president of the Hamburg-American Line, but no general shot himself.

In this war two marshals were the first of their countrymen to admit defeat, Marshals Petain and Badoglio. Ludendorff was the first to admit defeat in the last one. Civilians hope for miracles. Army men trust their own science. Feeling responsibility for their troops they do not continue to engage them when they know by the most exact calculation that the jig is up. They are accustomed to disengagements after lost battles, and an armistice is only the final disengagement.

So, if the generals had their way, it is reasonable to suppose that they would surrender tomorrow, or after fighting their way further off Russian soil.

Marshal Keitel as head of the German High Command could, regardless of the civil power, surrender directly to the Allies. But this would leave a dangerous situation inside Germany. He could not surrender Marshal Goering's Air Force, because it is not under his command, nor the navy, though he might bring it with him. Nor could he surrender the S.S., which is a party army directly under Hitler. Nor could he surrender the country, nor accept any political terms, for he has no political authority.

The normal procedure would be for the army to do what Ludendorff did in 1918: Demand that the government sue for an armistice, and thus make the surrender through the government. But it is all but unimaginable that Hitler would do this. And there is no legal way to oust Hitler without his consent.

The legal situation is altogether different from that in Italy, where there was an instance above Mussolini, namely, the King, who could demand the resignation of his Prime Minister.

The highest authority of the German state is the President, and Hitler is both President and Prime Minister, merging both offices in the title "Feuhrer." Technically the only way to get a surrender government would be for Hitler to dismiss himself as Prime Minister and appoint a government to countermand his own desires, or resign as President, leaving the post open for someone who could dismiss him.

There would be advantages in this, for the generals, who will be eager to avoid civil war. For that they must dissolve the S.S. over which Hitler, in his third function, as head of the party, has sole authority. A dissolution of the S.S. by Hitler or by a government appointed by Hitler would certainly contribute to collapse of German morale.

If, on the contrary, the generals should arrest Hitler, the S.S. could be a factor under a new party leader, and there would be no authority uncontestably legal.

Thus a transition from a Hitler government to another government would have to divide the two offices: Prime Minister and President. If Hitler could be "persuaded" by whatever method to resign as President, how could Germany get another?

The Weimar Constitution has never been formally abrogated. It provides only for an election, and that would be impossible in the moment of surrender with the S.S. intact. In itself it would mean civil war. If Hitler should die in office, naturally or unnaturally, there is still no constitutional method of providing for an immediate successor as Acting President. Hitler took advantage of this shortcoming when, upon Hindenburg's death, he appointed himself President pro tem, and then had himself ratified by an election in which he was the only candidate.

But there is at least a precedent for another procedure. When the first President, Ebert, died in office a special law passed by the Reichstag appointed the President of the Supreme Court temporarily to the office. The law only applied to the special case, but it might be invoked in lieu of anything else. The President of the Supreme Court is Dr Erwin Konrad Munke, who is a Conservative, not a Nazi. The Supreme Court itself represents an unbroken juridical tradition and link with pre-Hitler times. Hitler, who has taken every step with some show of legality, was unable to swallow the Supreme Court and created his own "people's court" for political purposes. The President of the Supreme Court, as Acting President, could appoint a new government.

In 1939, at the outbreak of war, Hitler, "in view of the risks to his person," appointed his successors to the merged office of Fuehrer: Goering and Hess, and, in case of the death of both, anyone appointed by the party. But this succession has no legality at all.

Look at it how one will, Hitler must either dismiss himself from one or another of his offices—even if at the point of a pistol—or Hitler must die, perhaps at the front or of some obscure disease, in order to obtain a legal surrender government. Maybe all of these will be conjoined.

The only alternative is an open, instead of veiled, military coup d'etat.

Seiners Making $570 Daily for Each Boat

NANAIMO, Nov. 4 (CP).—J. F. Tait, Fisheries Department supervisor, who has returned from an inspection trip, says that 70 seiners on Johnstone Strait are averaging nearly 1,500 fish a day, realizing a cash value of more than $570 a day for each boat.

On the West Coast the pilchard catch promises to be an all-time record, he said. Already 77,000 tons have been taken. The previous best catch was 86,342 tons in 1929.

PUTTING IT STRAIGHT

Sir,—Citizens of Victoria have in the past clamored for total war, but through their wishful thinking of an early victory they appear to be very indifferent about going over the top in the Victory Loan. Another two years of hard fighting has to be endured by our fighting forces, whilst we civilians in Victoria and vicinity carry on in smug complacency. Have Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin or any of our military leaders said or implied that an early victory is at hand? No. Germany is still powerful in men, arms and resources, because she has practically the whole of Europe under her thumb; ruled by fear, confiscation and forced labor. We expect a second front to be opened some time; that means an enormous amount of men, equipment and ships. Money is the only source for providing these, therefore it is absolutely necessary that we do our bit by seeing our quota going over the top. The three services have set a brilliant example. They know what it means to be well supplied or not. Loan quotas are set by savings deposits throughout Canada.

Remembrance Day is approaching. If Victoria does not go over the top in this loan then we had better cancel the ceremony at the Cenotaph, because we shall have failed to keep our promise to those both in the last war and this.

C. J. BAILEY.

RURAL PHYSICIANS

Sir,—With regard to an item appearing in your issue of November 2, in which Dr. Amyot is reported to have stated that the situation in Sooke re medical care is no worse than it was, but that a medical health officer might shortly be found for the district. It would be interesting to know where Dr. Amyot obtains his information, and it is time that the real facts were stated.

The situation in Sooke became very much worse after Dr. Brown left, and for months we were dependent on the medical officer of the nearby military camp. Finally the Women's Auxiliary to the Sooke Branch, Canadian Legion, took the matter up and through the initiative of one of its members obtained the part-time services of a doctor who opened an office here which he attends Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, both afternoon and evening.

It is somewhat late in the day to say that a medical health officer may shortly be found for us. Of course a resident doctor would be preferable to the present arrangements, but let it be emphasized that they are working very well and are entirely due to the public spirit of the Legion W.A. and its members. It might be well if Dr. Amyot checked his information on this district before making his statements.

OLIVE E. WADAMS.

R.R. 2, Victoria, November 3, 1943.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

According to Culbertson - - - -

I shall never cease to wonder at the strange quirk that impels those players who are weakest in the actual play of the cards to be ultra aggressive in their bidding. Don't they realize that speculative bidding, resulting in dangerous contracts, demands superlative play to back it up? Apparently not! If they did there would be fewer bids like that of South's in the following deal—and consequently, fewer big penalties.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 NT	(!) Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's belated three diamond bid was as good as South's following three no trump was atrocious. Obviously, North had been biding his time, to see just how far the opponents proposed to go and intending to double them if they went high enough. When, however, they signed off at the low contract of three clubs, North felt reasonably sure that South was not entirely "broke" and that, therefore, a three diamond bid was in order, either to acquire a part score or to bleed the enemy to a point at which North-South could take good care of them.

Considering that North easily could have fulfilled his contract, there can be no sound criticism of his bidding tactics, but the same can not be said for South's wild gamble for a game at three no trump. Presumably, South felt that since his partner had entered the auction at the three level he must have a colossal hand, and also presumably, South reasoned that he was ready to supply three queens that North hadn't counted on.

If this was the basis for the three no trump bid, South needs a course in partnership understanding. North's bid did not show a powerhouse; it was based partially on the bidding itself, which indicated that South could supply some help. South should have known that the three queens he could offer to the common cause would be no more than North was expecting.

Actually, the three no trump contract should have gone down only one trick, but (perhaps to prove that players of South's skill should bid more modestly) it went down four tricks, for a 700 point penalty, when South butchered the play.

Interned Japanese Express Disloyalty to America

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4 (AP).—Accounts of sabotage and openly avowed loyalty to Japan came to light today in further revelations of just what happened Monday at the Tule Lake segregation centre for disloyal Japanese.

Ernest Rhoades, former fire chief at the camp, told interviewers at Klamath Falls that all fire alarm telephones had been destroyed, sand and broken glass were tamped into hydrants, and that automobiles were damaged, one having been scratched with the words: "To hell with America."

Meantime Robert Cozzens, regional field director for the War Relocation Authority, which has charge of the camp, disclosed here that a "Reverand Kai," Japanese Buddhist priest from Hawaii, told a crowd of his countrymen that "you must give your all for Japan," and after that several thousand took off their hats and bowed their heads.

The crowd which gathered in front of the Tule Lake administration building Monday to make demands of Dillon Myer, national W.R.A. director, has been estimated at from 4,000 to 8,000. Cozzens said about two thirds uncovered their heads and bowed after the priest spoke.

The Japanese moved on the administration building about 1:30 in the afternoon, held about 75 Government employees inside virtual prisoners, and held their mass meeting in Nipponese until 4:50 p.m.

Their demands included more and better food and changes in the administration personnel. Myer told them he would entertain "requests" but not "demands."

Cozzens said a Japanese leader told him that "if the demands go unanswered, we (the Japanese) cannot be responsible for any incidents that may happen."

He told newsmen that those who "cannot live peaceably at Tule Lake" will have to live elsewhere, as "we do not propose to have any mob control of Tule Lake."

The latest incident at the camp, he said, occurred last night, when a contractor employee was "roughed up" by disgruntled Japanese and his flashlight taken from him.

In Washington, Representative Martin Dies, (Dem.-Tex.) ordered two investigators to Tule Lake from his Dies' committee Los Angeles office to look into the situation. Representative Clair Engle (Dem.-Calif.) made the request after telling the committee that Myer was "held prisoner for a period of approximately five hours."

Leland Barrows, acting W.R.A director, told newsmen in this regard that "this hostage business is not true."

Dr. R. M. Pedicord, chief surgeon at Tule Lake, said today he was set upon by 15 Japanese who marched into his office at the centre. One pulled off his glasses, he said, and he retaliated by knocking two of his assailants down, but then was beaten unconscious himself.

Dr. Pedicord's removal was one of the Japanese demands.

Liquor Sold Out

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4 (CP).—Liquor stores of the Manitoba Government Liquor Control Commission hung up the "sold out" sign yesterday with some stores ending business three hours before the regular closing time. Stores open at 2 p.m. and close regularly at 8 p.m.

Commission officials said that supplies have been put on a daily quota basis and until more stocks in bond are released the stores will be closed when the quota is sold. In a few days more liberal stocks will be available, they said.

Liquor permit holders are allowed to purchase 48 pint bottles of beer and 40 ounces of liquor a month and three bottles of wine a week. No more than 24 bottles of beer may be purchased in any one week.

Santa Maria Has Fine Loan Record

Skipper-Cox'n Dave Ritchie, R.C.N.F.R., of H.M.C.S. Santa Maria, along with his ten-man crew, have cinched their hold on the R. W. Hibberson Cup. The silverware is emblematic of the largest per capita subscription of any ship in the Fishermen's Reserve. Members of the Fishermen's Reserve in the Vancouver Island Division have already subscribed 137 per cent of their quota in the Fifth Victory Loan.

The tiny Royal Canadian Navy's West Coast patrol vessel subscribed $4,000 in their record drive. With each and every man of the Santa Maria's crew pulling his weight, the effort these men have shown gives them an astounding per capita status. The average monthly wage the four able seamen draw per month is $68.50 each, while a skipper-cox'n, who draws the biggest pay on the ship, is allowed $142.50 per month. While cash subscriptions took almost half of their effort, the ten men of the Santa Maria have assigned from their pay $32 per month.

With the honor of being the top boat in the Fishermen's Reserve on a per capita basis, the men of the stocky little Santa Maria had no easy time. Racing with a far bigger total was H.M.C.S. Nenamook, under the command of Skipper-Cox'n Elgin "Scotty" Neish, R.C.N.F.R., of Vancouver. His 14-man ship just failed to make the per capita basis. A friendly feud had been going on during the past week at the Fishermen's Reserve basin between the crews of the Santa Maria and the Nenamook, and only when a deadline was drawn did Skipper-Cox'n Dave Ritchie and his crew wear the smile of victory. The Victory Loan is drawing to a close, and the Fishermen's Reserve can rightly applaud their spontaneous efforts.

Miss Agnes Roy Tells Of Housing Registries

MRS. Paul Smith presided at a public meeting held Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. when Miss Agnes Roy, Ottawa, assistant supervisor of National Housing Registration for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, consumer branch, spoke on housing.

Miss Roy drew a very clear picture of the 38 housing registries under the Consumer Branch in congested areas throughout Canada, pointing out the chief function was to secure maximum registration of all available accommodation. This work, Miss Roy explained, was given to the Consumer Branch, for it was felt that since women in Canada have the renting of their homes the effort of registration should be made through them. The women, continued Miss Roy, have responded in a remarkable manner, and housing registries have found accommodation for over 46,000 people. The majority of these placements are in homes where owners do not need to rent, for economic purposes, but have done so for war service.

The people placed, Miss Roy continued, have been industrial workers, servicemen and families and single girls going into community for war work and essential civilian service.

SEVEN AREAS OVERCROWDED

Seven areas in Canada are dangerously overcrowded, said Miss Roy, who urges people not to move into these areas unless it is absolutely necessary. She is convinced if families and children move into these areas the children will suffer. Overcrowding, she avers, is a serious health hazard. Areas designated are Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria.

While repeating that the response to the housing appeal has been marvelous, Miss Roy still believes there is more space to be found.

An over-optimistic feeling may inspire groups of people to petition the Government to build when, Miss Roy contends, the situation is still really serious and majerials must go to war areas. The time has not yet come when materials may be released," she said.

According to Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse, local National Housing Registry manager, over 7,000 people have been housed in Victoria during the past nine months.

Miss Agnes Roy will speak to liaison officers of Women's Regional Advisory Committee and registry volunteers this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse will accompany Miss Roy when she leaves this evening for Nanaimo and Port Alberni. They expect to return on Tuesday after visiting Up-Island registries.

Mayor McGavin will officially welcome the bands on View Street, between Douglas and Broad Streets, on November 16 at 2 p.m., preceded by a parade of C.W.A.C. personnel.

The bands will play in Victoria on November 16 and 17. At 2 p.m. on November 16 on View Street and between 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. at Macdonald Park on November 17, and, weather permitting, will play at Beacon Hill Park on the following Sunday, the 21st, at 2 p.m.

On November 18 they will proceed Up-Island, playing at Duncan, Ladysmith, Nanaimo, Potr Alberni, Cumberland and Courtenay, and will return to Victoria on Saturday evening. They leave for the Mainland on Monday, November 22.

Weddings

SIMPSON—WESTERN

St. Paul's Anglican Church, Nanaimo, was the scene of an exceptionally interesting marriage when, on October 30, for the first time in the history of that church the bride was a daughter of the rector. The bridegroom was the great-grandson of Sir George Simpson, who came to this coast in 1828, and is famous in Canadian history for his influence in bringing about the union of the Hudson's Bay Company and the Northwest Company in 1821, and was soon afterward appointed governor of the Northern department of the united company.

Fully choral was the ceremony that united in marriage Phyllis Madeline Mary Western, B.A., daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Western, and Cpl. David Charles Yale Simpson, Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Simpson, 1310 Dallas Road, Victoria.

The bride wore a floor-length white sheer, with draped bodice and sweetheart neckline, the waistband featuring small white beads. Her veil was caught into a shirred halo with clusters of tiny flowers. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Thorneycroft and Miss Maxine Ellis. Both bridesmaids were attired in long bouffant dresses of marquisette, the former in creamy yellow, and the latter in green.

Hundreds of colorful chrysanthemums set against a black backdrop, make the scene of the third annual Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society "Mum" Show one of artistic loveliness. More Fraternal Spirit Needed

Fascinated by his first glimpse of Victoria, Rev. Dr. H. V. Ketchen, of Hamilton, Ont., Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said on his arrival here yesterday that the "chief benefit of my trip through the West will be that I shall be able to tell the Easterners about conditions, which are very different from their own."

This is the fifth synod Dr. Ketchen has visited since he was named Moderator. Arriving on the afternoon boat, he was met by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He has visited the synods of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Nova Scotia.

"I have just come from Nova Scotia; traveling that way from coast to coast, I found the vastness of this country incredible and wonderful," the Modegator said, adding, "I like your way of living here, everything about Victoria fascinates me. It is possible that I shall establish myself here."

He reports there is a more hopeful spirit everywhere in Canada, with churches gaining in membership and in good work.

"But our real problems will begin when the war is over, it will be a dangerous time. We need a more fraternal spirit. The East must learn all about the West and you must learn about us. That is important." There should be one language and a serious endeavor to weld all the nationals that will probably flood the Dominion after the war into one truly Canadian people, he said.

"The churches' part is fundamental; they have the only solution to our problems, which must begin with individual improvement. It is a long slow process, but a better world can only be based on better individuals," he said.

"We can't expect to revolutionize our world," Dr. Ketchen warned, "there is no hope in superficial and fanatical panaceas.

"As a people we tend too much toward materialism. We should deepen and broaden our culture, so that we shall have time for things of the spirit, and all the 'finer things of life. But we must also want these."

The moderator will speak at St. Andrew's Church this evening.

Thirty applications will be required before the class can be formed. Members wishing to take advantage of the training are asked to leave their names at the lodge rooms.

Canada Cares For Dependents

Canada looks after the dependents of its soldiers, sailors and airmen who are in the lower income brackets. The wife or other dependent of a serviceman, who through illness or misfortune is faced with problems too big to tackle alone, is given individual consideration and help by the Dependents' Board of Trustees, J. Pembroke, assistant deputy minister of National Defence and chairman of the board, said yesterday at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Pembroke is on an inspection trip, and has visited local committees in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, and Calgary. "This is the tail-end of the trip," he said, adding that following conferences with the local committee, headed by F. E. Winslow, and a meeting of social agencies tonight, he will return to Ottawa on Sunday.

Created in January, 1942, the board operates through 21 local committees, manned by local residents, who work entirely on a voluntary basis. It administers a supplementary grants fund, which is used for special emergencies and in cases of great hardship which become known to members of the local committees.

"I would like to point out that these funds are not meant to cover ordinary living expenses; nor do they constitute a loan. The grant is made to help the dependents of men below the rank of W.O.1, who need special help. Nothing is deducted from their regular allowance, and there is nothing to repay," Mr. Pembroke stated.

"The whole basis is individual investigation, individual application and consideration. No two cases are alike and careful thought is behind every decision."

Local committees are empowered to make grants of $35 or less without appealing to Ottawa, so that cases of urgency may be dealt with rapidly. All larger or recurrent grants must be submitted and approved by the central committee in Ottawa.

The members of the local Dependents' Advisory Committee for Vancouver Island and West Coast Islands are: Chairman, F. E. Winslow; members, Robert Knight, Joseph McKenna, J. D. Patterson, G. H. Stevens, W. T. Straith, K.C., M.P.P., Capt. H. E. Whyte and Mr. Woodford, warrant writer at the Naval Dockyards.

Until a short time ago one woman, Dr. Olga Jardine, was also a member, but she has since resigned and an appointment will be made in the near future.

Former assistant manager of the Royal Trust Company, Montreal, Mr. Pembroke is on loan to the Department of National Defence.

Canadian Strike

The strike call which halted work in the Western mines was issued when the union refused to accept the commission's reference which required it to report to the Labor Minister and the National War Labor Board. Union officials said they were opposed to dealing with the board which, they said, had been "dilly-dallying" with applications of the miners.

The procedure of giving broader powers to the commission or providing some other means for an application to be made would, at least immediately, have less violent effect on the Government's wage control policy than direct action in granting all or part of the $2 a day increase, the fundamental part of the miners' case.

Regardless of which procedure is followed, there is general agreement that some form of wage concession will have to be forthcoming before the miners return to work.

When the union officers returned to their hotel from the Labor Department, it was evident that the next move was theirs. Both union and departmental representatives said it was expected there would be another conference tomorrow. The time, not yet set, will be determined by the union delegates. The three conferences so far held have all been called by Mr. Mitchell.

There has been no change throughout in those attending the meetings. Mr. Mitchell has had his deputy minister, Arthur MacNamara and M. M. Maclean, director of the industrial relations branch, with him.

John Stokaluk, District 18 vice-president, and two board members, Donald McDonald and Michael Susmar, have accompanied Mr. Livett.

Until tonight's meeting the day had been without any developments indicating an early settlement. Attention centred largely on an order in council which, it became known, the Government had passed October 14, immediately prior to an earlier strike threat. The order makes it unlawful to strike, incite a strike or stage a lockout at any Canadian coal mine for the duration of the war.

Under the order employees who strike are liable to a fine of from $25 to $100 or imprisonment from one to three months—or both fine and imprisonment—for each day or part of a day they are on strike.

A section dealing with strike leaders says: "No person shall, during the state of war now existing, incite, encourage or aid any operator of a coal mine in Canada to cause a lockout from a coal mine in Canada or any employee employed in the operation of a coal mine in Canada to go on or take part in any strike."

For violation of this section penalties of not more than $2,000 fine or imprisonment for not more than a year, or both, are provided.

Any operator causing a walkout is subject to a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment of from three months to a year, or both, for each day that the lockout continues.

SHOWLER SAYS TO HAVE NO EFFECT

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4 (CP).—Birt Showler, president of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, said tonight "this ridiculous order will have no effect on the strike, except maybe to make things worse" in commenting on the order in council reported to have been passed in Ottawa October 14 subjecting miners to fines and imprisonment for going on strike.

"The Government knew for months that the miners were discontented, and should have settled their grievances instead of threatening them," he said.

"They will not get anywhere with threats," he concluded.

"This latest act of the Government is simply waving a club at the miners' heads, and does not become responsible ministers of the Crown," said E. E. Leary, president of Vancouver District Labor Council.

Urges Rotary to Aid Loan Drive

Robert Cheyne, governor of District 101, Rotary International, addressed club members at a luncheon Thursday at the Empress Hotel on the occasion of his official visit here. He outlined the expansion of Rotary from the days of Paul Harris in 1905, and strongly urged Rotarians to support the Victory Loan.

"Is Rotary going to take its place in the difficult times ahead?" queried the speaker, and he emphasized his reply: "You men are going to make Rotary, you are going to give Rotary its place in the world." Dealing with the opportunity offered to serve society, Mr. Cheyne said: "That is where Rotary commenced to live. Rotary would have died but for the ideal of service that spread Rotary. The ideal of service was something that appealed to men, something that made a real necessity.

"Rotary is definitely a democratic body that functions from you. Rotary responsibilities rest with you." He described the accomplishments of the clubs, and urged a stronger support of the Victory Loan. "What sacrifices have we made for our country? How many of us have contributed the way we should?" He warned against the dangers of inflation. "Look at labor troubles; read of strikes, and compare that with what our boys are doing. The ideal of Rotary is your responsibility."

Mr. Cheyne told of a plaque belonging to a St. Louis vice-president, which bears the inscription: "On the plains of history lie the bleached bones of countless millions who, at the dawn of victory, sat down to rest, and resting died." He asked: "Are we going forward in the fight, so Rotary will live, or are we going to sit back and rest, and in resting, die? Are we ready to make some little sacrifice that this world may be free?"

The speaker was introduced by Percy B. Scurrah, and James Little was chairman. A resolution was passed that Tom Warren, of Wolverhampton, England, be nominated 1945 Rotary International president.

Visitors were Jack Robinson, Vancouver; Hopkin Jenkins, Portland; Jack Arnold, Bermuda; Dave Dawson, Vancouver; N. C. Sawers, Vancouver, and Herbert Gould, Brandon, Man.

CHECK TWO-TIMERS

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4 (CP).—The Manitoba Liquor Commission announced today that "two-timing" liquor buyers will be checked. An order was issued making it compulsory for each permit holder to produce his national registration card when making purchases at Government stores. Officials said "too many people are using other people's permits."

British Commando raids gained most valuable experience for the army's subsequent great amphibious attacks.

DOES IT HURT?

Victorians have done a good job of investment in the Fifth Victory Loan, but IT'S NOT GOOD ENOUGH! Of how many of us can it be said that we have really SACRIFICED to invest in more Bonds? How much should you invest? How much should WE invest? We believe the answer is that if it doesn't hurt we haven't invested enough. Today, Victoria is still nearly a million dollars short of her quota—and Victoria will fail unless we give until it hurts. And while it may hurt now, it will be a "grand and glorious" feeling to own Bonds after the War.

2 DAYS TO GO!

Association to Educate Workers

The Workers' Educational Association has no political affiliations, but has the duty of telling workers how to think and providing them with material of a literary nature with which to work, Drummond Wren, secretary of the association told the Victoria and District [illegible] meeting Wednesday night.

A problem of the workers, he said, is to learn what to do with goods produced rather than only how to produce them, and a problem facing the association is the postwar economy.

Speaking on the inception of industrial films, Mr. Wren said that Government co-operation in the inauguration of a labor film circuit would be necessary, and that only by full labor support can films of real educational value be shown.

The association's ambition is to establish schools throughout the Dominion so that workers can be educated in economics, collective bargaining, and the individual's position in society.

The council endorsed a resolution from the Calgary Trades and Labor Council that civil servants receive overtime pay, and a protest was forwarded to the Western War Labor Board for its reported decision of applying straight-time pay for overtime work on a Skeena River project.

The council will continue its efforts toward reduction of child delinquency, the need for a full-time psychiatrist here, easing of the present coal situation, and alleviation of the present famine in India. F. Bevis and S. Kassian were chosen as delegates to the pro-tem India Famine Relief Committee.

Gladys Ashton and Irene Addison attended the meeting for the Retail Clerks' Union, and W. Blacklock represented the National Defence Civilian Workers' Union.

What Today Means

SCORPIO

If November 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and from 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

Conflicting interests may make it difficult to decide which one has the greatest claim on your time today, or if it will be best to try to divide it between them. There apparently will be numerous temptations to find excuses for doing things your better judgment warns you against, especially those that constitute a well-defined form of self-indulgence, so be prepared to resist unworthy inclinations. This is a day when it might be well to remember that "an idle brain is the devil's workshop" and that it is very advisable to keep yours occupied. This is a most unauspicious day for the ordinary man or woman to go on the theory that "the king can do no wrong," and as a ruler of their own little domain expect others to accede to them this royal prerogative, for the chances are they will find themselves sadly mistaken, especially if they are married, engaged, or on the verge of becoming betrothed.

If a woman and November 5 is your birthday, you must not let your affection for anyone blind you to their shortcomings and prevent you from trying to correct them. You should have your full share of courage and self-confidence. You have, in all likelihood, a creative mind which, if put to practical use, may aid you materially to realize some of your most cherished hopes. You are apparently level-headed [illegible] head or any form of flattery turn it. As a teacher, interior decorator, business manager, modiste, milliner, secretary, librarian, demonstrator, artist, musician, writer, or as one of those doing their bit to offset the prevailing shortage of manpower, you should make a splendid reputation and a fine income. An excellent disposition should make you an ideal wife for a man who will probably recognize and appreciate your many fine qualities.

The child born on November 5 will probably display a love for rhythm, outdoor sports and the stage. An analytical mind will probably be responsible for this youngster exhibiting an unusual degree of intelligence at a remarkably early age and should result in steady progress being made in whatever business or profession this child ultimately engages.

If a man and November 5 is your natal day, you should be a very versatile, entertaining person, with many social graces and a well-developed sense of humor. You may sooner or later turn out to be one of Fortune's favorites, especially if you are a business executive, financier, promoter, journalist, author, actor, clergyman, doctor, lawyer, soldier, sailor, aviator, sculptor, educator, agriculturist, inventor, manufacturer, politician or engineer.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

ANGLE

"Angle" is from the word the Greeks had for "a bend."

Commonly used in geometry, we ultra moderns have given the term an up-to-date twist; so that angle now betokens not only a mathematical but a mental attitude as well.

Take, for example, that of the head hunter from Papua who, after a particularly bloody encounter between the Americans and the Japanese, wanted to know how the doughboys could possibly eat all those dead descendants of the sun goddess.

Informed that our soldiers don't devour the enemies they kill, he was horified.

"What kind of barbarian," he inquired in shocked Cannibalese, "slays without any real object?"

When this Papuan native got back to his village, he discovered that in his absence the Japanese had paid his tribesmen a surprise visit—Nipponese style.

They had murdered the men, kidnapped the women, ruined the gardens, and killed the pigs.

He found the answer to his question, he lost his angle.

NO. 277—EIGHTY-FIFTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1943

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DECARONTY

THE DAY'S ROUND-UP

Just heard yesterday that my old friend of many years, Corporal Bill "Torchy" Peden, Victoria's gift to the six-day bicycle track and the greatest rider ever to hit the pine ovals on this continent, has been appointed manager of the R.C.A.F. hockey team in the Edmonton Junior League. Well, if the "Torch" makes that club fly half as fast as the big redhead could on two wheels they should win the honors by several lengths. . . . Tonight's winner at the Willows Arena at a glance, when the Flyers from Sea Island clash with V.M.D. in the ice opener: R.C.A.F. 7, local shipbuilders 2, and don't say I didn't tell you so. . . . Donations are coming in from every source in aid of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, but officials stated yesterday that they are open to accept any contribution, no matter how small it may be. So, folks, don't be slow in coming forward. . . . Consensus of opinion on the basketball front already is that the next Canadian men's senior titleholders will come out of Edmonton, and that may be true for the town is stacked with some top-ranking American court stars. . . . The rumor still floats and is gaining momentum that Vancouver will be taking over the franchise of the Sacramento ball club in the Coast League next season. Well, we will believe that when the deal goes through, and no sooner. Vancouver couldn't even support an amateur circuit last season, never mind thinking of entering the professional game.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when Larry Gains, Toronto negro and British Empire heavyweight boxing champion, scored a two-round technical knockout over Alexander Lutz, British challenger, in London 12 years ago? Three years later Gains relinquished the Empire title to Jack Petersen and today he is in the army in the Old Country as a physical instructor. . . . See where there is some talk about merging St. Regis Hotel and the Canadian Pacific Air Lines hockey clubs on the Mainland. No decision will be reached until a certain official connected with the latter mentioned club returns from the Prairies where he is scouting talent to bolster the squad for the coming campaign. If these teams are seriously thinking of amalgamating, this corner wonders what will happen to the New Westminster Spitfires, a team which must be strengthened to give the service entries any kind of a battle. . . . "Duke" McLeod, former local sports announcer, who use to air those hectic basketball play-offs when the town was really cage conscious, will be in the city today to cover the opening hockey game for The Vancouver Sun. Duke has done plenty of traveling since leaving the city and then, of all things, he winds up in Vancouver as a newspaperman. Radio announcers are bad enough, but when a person jumps from the "mike" into this game, that's about the last straw. . . . The best round of golf fired over the difficult Gorge Vale course for a long time was turned in by Freddy Basanta, runner-up in the club championship last Summer, just recently. Freddy clicked off an even par 18 holes of 74 and, if you think that isn't hitting the ball with accuracy, ask me another one. Basanta was over the outgoing route in 38 and then stroked his way back to the clubhouse in 36. He was playing with George Davies and Archie McBride at the time. By the way, Freddy: when is the big family event going to take place?

IN THE MAIL BAG

Dear Joe:

I was glad to see that you had been away from the office for at least a couple of weeks, but why on earth did you pick your holidays when you had a cold, and why on earth do you want to have a cold anyway; I am surprised at you. At the same time I hope you enjoyed our change and did not have too much material on your desk when you returned.

Would I, as president of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, be asking you too much one of these fine days before you start to call at my office and I will give you some data, with photographs included which I think would have, at least I hope, a lot of bearing on the building up of the V.A.S.C. for the future. Let me know when you have a few minutes to spare.

As you know we have a date with Father Neptune on Christmas morning in the Inner Harbor. With the services here I believe we could get together and make the swim a huge success and a boost for the City of Victoria. With reference to this swim I hope to get the movie man to take pictures, so now is the time to get things started. You must know that we have lost a lot of the swimmers to the services, hence my reason for asking you the above favor.

Thanking you in advance.

Yours truly,

G. SPENCE MATTHEWS,
710 Fort Street

Comment: Yes, Spence I will be around one of these days to discuss the swim with you. While those lads and lassies will be enjoying that Christmas morning plunge this columnist will most likely be nursing a severe headache, or, on the other hand I may be feeling fit as a fiddle. Meet you next week sometime and will look over the data you have on hand.

Regina, Winnipeg To Open Play-Offs

First of Gridiron Series Scheduled Saturday—Total Points Will Decide It

REGINA, Nov. 4 (CP).—Regina All-Service Roughriders were confident tonight that Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers will be in for "quite a surprise" Saturday in the opening of the two-game total-point Western Canada and Western armed services senior Rugby championships at Winnipeg.

Regina's confidence was based on the return of one player, Frank Mathers, acquisition of another, and improvement of two backfielders.

Return of Mathers gives Roughriders a plunger for the first time against Bombers while Sgt.-Maj. Francis Pyne, who returned from overseas, gives the team an experienced outside wing and tackler. Backfielders Joe Turner and George Cullen have started to hit their peak form, club members say.

Playing-Coach Dean Griffing feels that the undefeated Bombers are due for a setback. "Even the biggest of them falls once in a while," he said.

In addition, Griffing points out, riders have been out with a full squad in practice sessions every night for the past week, and this is the first time during the season the backfield has been together for more than one night.

Regina will start the game with Don King at centre, Johnny Hammond and Maurice Williams at guard; Griffing and Doc Bean at tackle, Pyne and Hoce on the ends, Kinney in the quarterback spot, and Charlton, Mathers, Turner and Cullen in the backfield.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 4 (CP).—Coach Reg Threlfall, of R.C.A.F. Bombers, said tonight he believes his gridders have a "good chance" to bring Winnipeg its seventh consecutive Western Canada football championship in the two-game total-point series against Regina Roughriders, opening here Saturday.

Threlfall, however, believes the coming series will be a lot tougher than regular games of the Western Armed Services Senior League but he was cheerful on the outcome when he announced introduction of a fast running halfback—Garnet Smith, formerly of Vancouver.

The team, he said, would likely be at full strength with two veteran players, L.A.C. Johnny Lake, a halfback, and L.A.C. Nate Shore, a snap expected to be ready.

Lake, third-ranking scorer in league competition, suffered a leg injury in a game here last Saturday and has not been practising with the team so far this week.

Shore has been nursing an injured foot for some time but the injury is coming around nicely, the coach said.

The date or place for the second game has not been definitely decided yet.

Resigns as President

Tuttle Quits as Baseball Head

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4 (AP).—Without explanation, Wilbur C. Tuttle resigned today as president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League and in letters to eight directors said he wished to be relieved of his duties November 15.

His action came after many weeks of rumors that he would not be at the league's helm next season, and there appeared little doubt that his resignation would be accepted. Clarence (Pants) Rowland, president of the Los Angeles club and member of the directorate, said:

"Of course I can't speak for the directors, but will vote to accept his resignation. There's no use holding a man on a job he doesn't want."

Rowland added he hoped the next president would serve on a full-time basis. Tuttle, a prolific writer of Western fiction, has worked under an agreement whereby he devoted only part time to his baseball duties.

Tuttle himself was on a hunting trip and not available for comment, but Rowland and Maj. Charles McLott, president of the San Diego club, both said he offered no explanation. Lott added that the recent league sessions in San Francisco were amicable and that "no pressure was brought regarding the presidency."

If Tuttle's resignation is accepted Lott, as first vice-president of the league, will assume the presidency until Jan. 17. On that date the league directors will meet in Sacramento and presumably will elect a permanent leader.

The names of several men have been mentioned as possible successors since it became rumored that Tuttle would not be around next season. Among them are Bill Schroeder, sports statistician and managing director of the Helms Athletic Foundation; Edward C. (Dunc) Farrel, Los Angeles oil man and widely known sportsman, and Abe Kemp, San Francisco sports writer.

English Rugby

By Observer

The Rugby games last Saturday between Army and Naval Cadets, Navy and R.A.F. may have been one-sided, but heavily-defeated XV's have a way of coming back and defeating their former victors.

Let us take the Royal Naval College Cadets, for example. Although outplayed by the Army, these young players show signs of developing into a very good Rugby team. The Cadets' chief trouble on Saturday last was in their passing and tackling. Their passing to the feet of their three's is a very poor method. You cannot beat the waist high short passing. It was the latter style of passing that made Welsh XV's famous years ago.

On Saturday the ball came out frequently from the scrum to the Cadet half. Thence to the five-eighth to the three's. The latter fumbled enough times to prevent any chance of scoring from their three's. The Cadets were also slow getting on to their opponents' three's and invariably bought the dummy at a very heavy price. Nevertheless this young Cadet XV will be heard from later.

The Army played brilliantly in the loose but got their three's going chiefly by the unorthodox method of batting the ball from the line out to their threes. On this occasion it worked well but it is a bad policy to use against a more aggressive team with fast moving breaks and threes. The Army forwards did the correct thing being much taller than the Cadets in making full use in the line outs. The Army forwards did not pack well on Saturday. They may have elected to let their weaker opponents have the scrums and follow up fast to prevent the Cadet threes from doing any damage. But one noted that this was not the cause of the Cadets downfall but due almost entirely to the Cadet threes failing to take their passes and through failure to tackle the man with the ball. The writer did not see the Navy and R.A.F. game but the score was large enough to see the Navy fifteen need more experience.

IMPORTANT GAME ON SATURDAY

However the game for everyone to see Saturday is undoubtedly the R.A.F. and the Army at Macdonald Park. So well matched does the Victoria Rugby Union officials believe they are that the selection of the Crimson Tide fifteen is being held over until the final whistle of this important game.

The other game at the lower enclosure at Macdonald Park will be Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Naval College. The latter should break into the winning column next Saturday.

Take any street car and transfer to numbers 2 or 3 to Macdonald Park, James Bay. Kick-off at 2:30 p.m.

ENGLISH RUGBY

Army line-up will be chosen from the following: Sparks, Bray, Stevens, Gornall, Rhodes, Douglas, George, Van Druten, Mallory, Coull, Murdoch, Peden, Askew, Cullin, Greig, Smith, McMillen and Chapman.

There has been a brisk demand for pasteboards, with indications of a packed house for the season's opener.

Frankie Boucher On Comeback Trail With the Rangers

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (CP).—Frank Boucher, coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, announced today that he definitely will attempt a comeback to the centre ice spot and will play for his club here Saturday night against Chicago Black Hawks.

Manager Lester Patrick predicted the fans will find that in going in on the goal, Boucher will be the second-best play-maker in the league, shaded only by Bill Cowley, of Boston Bruins.

Boucher, veteran of 12 full seasons with the Rangers until he retired to the bench in 1938, will centre a line made up of Bill Goden, left wing of last year's Ranger team, and Jack McDonald, right, recently discharged from the Royal Canadian Air Force for medical reasons and a member of the Portage la Prairie, Man., Juniors.

Tommy Harmon Missing Again

DETROIT, Nov. 4 (AP).—Louis Harmon, father of Lieut. Tommy Harmon, Michigan's All-America halfback of 1939 and 1940, said tonight the United States Army had informed him his son has been missing in action over China since October 30. Harmon, a fighter pilot, crashed last April in Central America, but found his way through the jungle to safety.

Harmon was assigned to the 449th Fighter Squadron in China.

The elder Harmon said he believed his son was in supporting action in Chinese fighting around Chungking, reported the scene of a sharp attack against the Japanese last Saturday, the day Tom was listed as missing.

Harmon, 24, last visited home in March, just before leaving the country for South America in the bomber "Old 98," which he then piloted. His college football number had been 98.

Harmon's plans to return home after his jungle rescue were cut short when he was ordered to fighter duty in the Far East. He said his "football legs" and prayer carried him through seven days and nights in the swampy Dutch Guiana jungle—an experience he called "the luckiest touchdown of my life."

CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (CP).—Montreal Canadiens remained undefeated in the National Hockey League tonight with a record of two wins and one tie by handing the Chicago Black Hawks their second defeat, 5-3, before 6,941 fans.

The match was jammed with 14 penalties, Montreal nabbing two of its goals when the Hawks were working with five men, and the Hawks getting one of theirs when Montreal had but four in action. Ray Getliffe, Montreal left wing, was banished from the game in the first period for knocking.

Billie Moskieno, of the Hawks, opened the scoring at 2:31 of the first stanza, then with Earl Seibert out for interference, the Canadiens tied it up when Rookie Fern Majeau tallied on a pass from Emil Bouchard.

Three goals were made within one minute and 48 seconds in the second period, Majeau again counting with help from Elmer Lach and Buddy O'Connor. Mush March then tied the score, 2-2, before Montreal again went ahead at 11:19, Seibert trying to push the puck away from the nets, flicked it in instead. Murph Chamberlain was credited with the goal.

Montreal made it 4-2 at 3:02 of the third period when Toe Blake rammed in the puck on a pass from Lach. After allowing the Hawks Clint Smith a red light at 9:20, to cut the margin 4-3, Montreal added another goal on Buddy O'Connor's unassisted scoring dash from the blue line.

LEAFS AND WINGS IN DEADLOCK

DETROIT, Nov. 4 (CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs twice came from behind tonight to play Detroit Red Wings to a 5-5 tie in a National Hockey League game before 9,738 spectators. Three goals in five minutes of the second period squared the count at 4-4, and then Babe Pratt's goal offset one by Pat Egan, of Detroit, in the third period.

The season's first meeting between these unbeaten rivals was a rough and tumble affair.

Adam Brown gave Detroit a 1-0 first-period lead. Two goals by Joe Carveth and another by Mud Bruneteau, while George Boothman was scoring for Toronto, put Detroit ahead, 4-1, in the second period. Ted Kennedy, Mel Hall and Bob Davidson then scored quickly for the Leafs.

Early in the third period Egan blasted a 50-foot shot off Goalie Benny Grant's glove to put Detroit back in front, 5-4, but Pratt fired a 40-footer in the last six minutes to provide the deadlock.

In the second period outburst, the two clubs scored seven goals in 14 minutes, adding testimony to the high-powered results of new rules that have opened up the game.

Jimmy Franks had 29 saves in the Detroit nets to 25 by Grant.

The Leafs now have two victories and a tie, and Detroit has one victory and this deadlock.

Spokane Seeking Big Golf Events

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 4 (AP).—Caught with a bale of the folding green the Spokane athletic round table is thinking about spending "a hunk of it on something like a national golf tournament."

President Joe Albi, admitting the existence of the cash, said he would bid for the 1944 National Professional Golfers' Association tournament—"or maybe the National Open."

The round table, which runs its basement club rooms started the "Bundles for Congress" campaign, sponsored the National Public Links tournament in 1941 and the Western Amateur in 1942. This year it inaugurated the $1,250 "Emeralda Open" in Spokane, which was won by Amateur Harry Givan, of Seattle.

"We're going to bid for the biggest golf show we can get," Albi added.

LARRY McPHAIL SUGGESTS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4 (AP).—Lt.-Col. Larry McPhail, former general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, said today he expects that major league and "AA" baseball will operate next year, "but beyond that I am not optimistic." He said "the low minors really face tough sailing."

Mauriello Is Favored Over Rival

Experts Like Tami To Beat Savold

NEW YORK, Nov. 4 (AP).—Tami Mauriello and Lee Savold, a couple of clouters who've been riding up and down the heavyweight elevator the last year or two, bring boxing back to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for the first time in a month.

Tomorrow night's ten-rounder is their second encounter. Just a year ago, Tami took a decision from Lee, but that time the New York youngster had to come off the floor to win. Since he's already one up on the score card, Tami has been installed as a 5-to-9 favorite.

On the other hand, Tami was out of action for four months until late last Summer and ballooned to 217 pounds from his normal 185. Since then he has won five starts, against easy opposition. This corner picks Savold to come home galloping and tie the score with Tami at one apiece. Lee had a dozen bouts in the past year and lost only one—to Eddie Blunt, whom he since has defeated.

There are $20,000 in advance sales in the till and Promoter Mike Jacobs wouldn't be surprised to see a pot of $40,000.

MacDonalds, representing MacDonald Electric, scored an impressive 24-12 victory over the hard-hitting Liberty Cafe team. For the winners, Browne-Cave won seven, while Keith Olson, leading junior star, won six. Keith is now tied for sixth in the race for the individual averages trophy. Colorful Musical Romance Comes to Dominion Today

"Naughty Marietta," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge adventure drama, with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the starring roles, will open today at the Dominion Theatre. While the music of Victor Herbert's original operetta has been preserved intact in the production, the drama surrounding it is a vivid adventure story, rather than the conventionalized plot of the old stage version. The story is in the main the same, except that the pirate details, settlement of New Orleans and incidentals referred to in dialogue in the stage version are shown in a huge and spectacular drama of the founding of one of America's most romantic cities.

CADET THEATRE With the work of the Norwegian "underground" for theme and a Commando raid for a smashing climax, Paramount's "The Avengers" is now showing at the Cadet Theatre. "The Avengers" tells a powerful and poignant love story—and sets your jaw just a little firmer in your determination to break Hitler's neck.

CAPITOL THEATRE "Watch on the Rhine," the prize-winning play which co-stars Paul Lukas and Bette Davis, is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Warner Bros., in casting Paul Lucas as Kurt Muller, brings that fine actor to the screen in the role that he enacted on the stage for 15 months and for which he won the award of the New York Drama League for the outstanding portrayal of the season.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES After she finished making her current Universal production, "Hers to Hold," which is showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, Deanna Durbin declared she could qualify as an experienced aircraft worker. For scenes in the picture, in which Deanna goes to work in an aircraft factory, the star had to learn to handle an electric drill expertly. She learned in exactly two days—by drilling holes in sheets of scrap metal.

RIO THEATRE Lovely Jinx Falkenburg, last seen in "Two Latins From Manhattan," is now at the Rio Theatre in Columbia's "Sing for Your Supper," with Charles Ruddy, Rogers also featured, Bert Gordon, radio-famed as the "Mad Russian," heads the supporting comedy cast.

SORRELL'S GOAL TIES SCORE

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 4 (AP).—Coach Johnny Sorrell's goal early in the second period gave Indianapolis Capitals a 1-1 tie with the Bisons tonight in this city's first American Hockey League game of the season before 7,661 spectators.

The Caps, playing two lines against the Bisons' three, yielded a goal in the first period. Alf Turner started the play, carrying from the Bison end and relaying to Larry Thiebault, who scored from point-bank range.

It was the third tie in four starts for the unbeaten Caps. The Bisons, league champions, have won one, tied one, and lost two.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

OLD MR. TOAD TAKES A MESSAGE TO PETER

"How Do You Do, Granny Fox?"

"It looks to me as if Granny has something on her mind," said he to himself. "Of course little Mrs. [illegible] she won't believe anything but bad of her. She thinks Granny is hanging around here for nothing but the chance of catching Peter, because she knows that he is sick and so cannot run. But if that was what Granny has in mind she never would keep in plain sight; she would hide. I wish the old lady would come near enough for me to speak to her."

It seemed as if Old Granny Fox must have known the wish of Old Mr. Toad, for just then she started straight toward the old stump on which he was sitting. Of course she didn't know that he was anywhere about. But the result was just as if she had, for she kept right on until she was just on the edge of the Old Brier Patch right in front of the old stump.

"How do you do Granny Fox? You look as if you might have something on your mind," said Old Mr. Toad.

Granny jumped. She was startled, for she had not suspected that any one was near. She recognized old Mr. Toad's voice and looked everywhere for him except in the right place. You see she supposed that of course, he was on the ground. Old Mr. Toad chuckled. "I've gone up in the world since you saw me last," said he and chuckled again at his own joke.

Then Granny looked up and saw him on top of the old stump. She grinned, and Mr. Toad saw that it was a very good-natured grin. "You certainly have," she replied. "I never expected to see the day when I would look up to you, Mr. Toad."

Old Mr. Toad considered this reply for a minute, trying to decide if Granny meant more than the words seemed to mean, and then decided that she didn't. "I've been wondering," he said, "what brings you over to the Old Brier Patch."

"You wouldn't believe me if I should tell you," replied Granny.

"Yes, I would," replied Old Mr. Toad.

"Well, it's all on account of Peter Rabbit!" replied Granny Fox.

"Huh!" snapped Old Mr. Toad, "I can believe that all right."

"But you don't understand," persisted Granny Fox. "It's because I heard that he is sick."

"Of course, I can believe that too," replied Old Mr. Toad. "You heard that he is sick and so you thought you might be able to catch him." Mr. Toad's eyes twinkled, but Granny didn't see the twinkle.

"It's no such thing!" she retorted and her voice was sharp and indignant. "I—I, well, I told you you wouldn't believe me," she ended lamely.

"Go on," replied Old Mr. Toad. "You haven't told me anything yet."

"Well, I came over here to find how he is and—and to send him word that I am sorry he is sick." Old Granny Fox talked rather fast, as if a little ashamed of such softheartedness. "But though I've hung around here ever so long I haven't seen anyone to ask about Peter or to take my message to him. Have you seen him and is he really so very sick, Mr. Toad?"

Old Mr. Toad looked straight into Granny's eyes and he saw that she really meant all that she had said. A kindly look came into his own beautiful eyes. "Yes," said he, "Peter is very sick, or rather he has been very sick, but he is better now and will soon be well again."

"I'm glad of that!" exclaimed Granny Fox. "I've been dreadfully worried about him. Of course, when he is well I feel that it is perfectly right for me to try to catch him, but when he is sick it is a very different matter. I wish you would tell him for me that I am sorry that he is sick and that I hope he will soon be well again. Tell him that he will have nothing to worry about from me until he is quite himself, and—I—I wanted to bring him something and so I left a young Meadow Mouse at the entrance to one of his little paths. I knew he wouldn't eat it, but I thought perhaps if he found it he might understand that I really am sorry for him and—and wanted to do something for him." Granny looked a little confused.

"I understand," replied Old Mr. Toad. "Mrs. Peter found the Mouse and I guessed why it had been left there. I think Peter will understand. I certainly will take your message to him and I'm sure it will make him feel better."

It did. When Peter got that message he thought it one of the very nicest of all the nice things which had happened since he was taken sick.

Next Story: Peter Gets Well.

Two New Freighters For Coastal Trade

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4 (CP).—Two new freighters will go into service in the British Columbia coastal trade in the near future, thus ending the acute shortage of shipping space which has been in existence on the coast for many months.

The shipping situation now is "over the hump," largely because most types of fishing have practically come to an end for the season, one official pointed out. The acquisition of the two new vessels will take the pressure off entirely, however.

Names of the vessels or the areas in which they will trade cannot be revealed for security reasons.

Named Corvettes Built for Britain

Canadians who have been thrilled at the exploits of the corvettes Spikenard, Trillium, Windflower, and others, can thank Engr.-Rear-Admiral Henry A. Sheridan C.B., R.N., for the purely Canadian names the ships carried into battle.

Admiral Sheridan, deputy head of the British Admiralty Technical Mission in Ottawa, who is spending a short leave at the Empress Hotel, said in an interview last night that ten corvettes built in Canada for the Royal Navy and manned by R.C.N. crews, bore the names of Canadian wildflowers.

"The British-built corvettes were named after flowers," he said, "so I asked the Dominion horticulturalist for the names of Canadian wildflowers. He gave me 25, and of the ten I chose nine were accepted."

Admiral Sheridan, who remarked last night that he would not mind some service at sea to avoid the worries of his present post, said some care had to be shown in choosing the names.

"I picked those of just one word and few syllables," he said. "If one had been named 'Black-Eyed Susan,' for instance, I can imagine the fighting there would be in the canteens."

HAVE CONTROLLED SUBMARINE MENACE

These ships and all other corvettes, construction of which comes under his authority, have given control over the submarine menace to such an extent that other types of vessels can now be built that have been badly needed.

"They're wonderful little escort ships," he said.

Admiral Sheridan is a destroyer man himself, having served in them during the last war, and with the Mediterranean fleet until shortly before the present war. No other ship can match their terrific surge of power, and the thrill of taking them into battle, he said.

"We fooled the Germans at Narvik with some of our destroyers," he related. "We had had them designed with all guns facing forward—because we sail into battle and never away from it—and the Germans thought we were handicapped because we could not bring all our guns to bear. But all our guns did bear on the targets, and you know the rest."

Admiral Sheridan is having a genuine holiday in civilian clothes, but on the invitation of Norman Yarrow, whom he knows well, will visit the Esquimalt yards while in Victoria.

Led Morden's Rescue Party

THE now famous little Canadian corvette, H.M.C.S. Morden, recently drew praise for its crew members when she rescued 102 survivors from the sinking merchant freighter, salvaged a sub-chasing motor launch and gear from its cargo decks, and safely piloted the motor launch 300 miles to Gibraltar. Here is the Morden's first lieutenant, Lieut. Douglas Watson, R.C.N.R., of Westmount, Que., and Timmins, Ont., who led the boarding party and took command of the motor launch. Not long ago the Morden was said to be the champion survivor-carrier of its class in the entire United Nations navies, with a record of 357 shipwrecked persons plucked from the sea during the past year.

Awards for Three of Crew For Rescue Work in Ocean

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—It's become mere routine for the Canadian corvette Morden to pick up survivors at sea—she has rescued 357 shipwrecked persons in the past year—but her latest exploit, rescuing the full complement of a torpedoed merchant freighter, has brought awards to three crew members.

In addition to picking up the 102-man crew of the disabled ship, the Morden put a skeleton crew aboard a launch salvaged from the freighter and they piloted it safely to port after a hazardous 300-mile trip through storm-tossed waters.

In a press release describing the action, the navy did not reveal its time and place.

One of the Morden's officers, Lieut. Douglas Watson, R.C.N.R., of Westmount, Que., and Timmins, Ont., was made a Member of the British Empire, while the corvette's commanding officer, Lieut. J. J. Hodgkinson, R.C.N.R., of Verdun, Que., and St. John's, Nfld., was mentioned in dispatches, as was Chief Petty Officer Howard English, R.C.N.R., of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

FELL OUT AFTER DIRECT BOMB HIT

The freighter, one of a large convoy which the Morden was helping to escort, fell out after a direct hit by a bomb during an enemy air attack, and the corvette was ordered to stand by and escort her.

The crew was ordered to abandon her when it became apparent the freighter would sink. They made their way in lifeboats to the escorting corvette and were taken aboard.

When Lieut. Hodgkinson called for volunteers from his crew to form a party to board the sinking ship, 60 men volunteered. Only 13, including Lieut. Watson, were picked for the job.

With Lieut. Watson, Lieut. Royal Gentles, R.C.N.V.R., of Toronto, and three of the freighter's officers they boarded the ship to cut adrift three motor launches on deck.

Two were cut loose but the third was left because the bomb had pierced the bottom.

Their job completed, the boarding party went to their lifeboat to go back to the corvette, but a seramble net became entangled in the propeller, and for a few moments the men were in danger of being sucked down by the freighter.

EVERY MAN GRABBED AN OAR

Every man grabbed an oar. "We just rowed like hell," said Leading Seaman Wright Evoy, R.C.N.V.R., of Victoria, and Telegraphist Harry Taylor, R.C.N.V.R., of Gregg, Man., praised Lieut. Watson's work in getting the lifeboat away in time.

When the boarding party returned to the corvette a salvo of gunfire was shot at the freighter's water line to prevent her from rolling over. As she disappeared beneath the surface, the two launches remained afloat.

One seemed to be in good condition, and it was decided to man her and return to port. The crew included Lieut. Watson, Chief Petty Officer English, Able Seaman Evoy and Signalman Joe Schacter, R.C.N.V.R., of Regina.

The 300-mile voyage took the crew 42 hours. They stored up with corned beef, hardtack, sardines and water from the Morden. Fuel shortage was their chief worry. No one slept more than a few hours a day.

PLAN HEALTH CENTRES

MANCHESTER, England (CP) — Manchester City Council has approved a scheme which envisages the setting up of 75 new health centres after the war.

More Aircraft Carriers Soon

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP).—Aircraft carrier production will be increased at Pacific Northwest shipyards, and Henry J. Kaiser's Vancouver plant may turn to building bigger flat tops, Capt. J. D. Barner, senior naval officer at Astoria, Ore., disclosed at a hearing of a House naval affairs subcommittee here.

Barner said that the Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Company's Puget Sound yards will start immediately on construction of 15 carriers.

Barner said the Navy Department is considering converting the Vancouver yards for bigger, faster carriers after the present contract for the vest-pocket ships is completed, probably next July.

Fishing Fleet's Catches Increase

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 4 (AP).—The off-shore fishing fleet based here increased catches more than 30 per cent this year, the Oregon Fish Commission said today.

Columbia River landings of Chinook salmon dropped sharply, however, preliminary figures showed.

The off-shore fleet delivered 30,649,224 pounds of bottom fish worth $825,968 up to September, and heavy catches continued in the last two months although figures are not yet available. The 1942 catch was 15,746,812 pounds.

The Spring catch of Chinooks totaled 4,695,996 pounds, a decline of 900,000 from 1942, while the Fall catch up to October 1 weighed approximately 6,295,000 compared to last year's 10,654,831. The catch, worth $1,501,913, was above the average for the past few years.

Manslaughter Case Opens

Pending his judgment of a point of law which was presented by Gordon Wismer, K.C., for the defence, Mr. Justice J. M. Coady adjourned at 4:15 p.m. yesterday the Assize Court trial of Alverado Ricardo, taxi driver, who stands accused of manslaughter in connection with the death on March 2, 1943, of Albert Edward Tudor, former janitor at the Scollard Building, who, the Crown charges, was killed at Pandora Avenue and Quadra Street by a car of which Ricardo was the driver.

Recalling the jury, which had been excluded for about 20 minutes while opposing counsel argued the point of law, His Lordship announced an adjournment until 10:30 this morning.

Sixteen witnesses appeared for the Crown, whose testimony was completed yesterday. W. H. M. Haldane, for the Crown, and Mr. Wismer agreed that the trial might be expected to conclude today.

Dr. J. S. McCallum, who examined the body at Royal Jubilee Hospital shortly after 6 o'clock on the morning of March 2, said that Tudor had been dead for perhaps an hour prior to the examination.

R. H. Smith, assistant city engineer, identified drawings he had made of the vicinity, and of skid-marks, the longest of which, he said, was about 74 inches.

John Naysmith, a son-in-law, last saw Tudor on February 28, at which time his father-in-law appeared to be in good health and full possession of his faculties, he said. Tudor was about 69, declared the witness, who also identified a cap which Tudor had worn.

Frederick G. Hull said that he had found Tudor lying in the street, his head resting on the east side of the intersection, near the lighthouse. This, he thought, was about 5:45 a.m. Stopping an approaching car, Hull remained on the spot while the motorist went to inform the police.

HEARS CRASH ON WAY TO WORK

James Harrod testified that while walking to work that morning he had passed and spoken to Tudor at Cook Street and Balmoral Road. Nearing Quadra and Pandora, he heard a crash. Looking back he saw a car which appeared to slow down or stop, then pull away from the curb near the lighthouse. Visibility, he said, was poor, but as that car passed him, he noticed that the driver was wearing a peaked cap.

C. G. Argall, operating a cafe on Yates Street, said that Ricardo had driven him to his home, 2090 Cadboro Bay Road, some time after 3 o'clock on the morning of the accident. Jack Caldwell, also a passenger, had been dropped off on Balmoral Road. This, he thought, would be about 2:50 a.m.

Argall said that Ricardo came into the Argall home, where both men had a drink from a bottle in Ricardo's possession. Witness was not certain of the time of Ricardo's departure. Mrs. Argall corroborated the statement that Ricardo had brought Argall home and had remained for a time, but she, too, was uncertain of the time.

Robert Averill, former city police constable and now a member of the R.C.A.F., said that he had been called to the scene a few minutes before 6 a.m. There, he found Tudor's body between 30 and 40 feet from the lighthouse.

A police photographer identified pictures he had taken of the car, and these were checked yesterday when court and jury inspected a taxicab which had been stored in a nearby warehouse.

Constable Harley Davidson said that he had gone to the scene of Tudor's death, where measurements were taken by himself, Sergeant Tom Stevenson and Constable Robert Morris and George Buckle.

SERGEANT FINDS DAMAGED TAXI

William A. Heller, a taxi driver, said that he had found parked on Johnson Street a car which he identified by the company number, 410, which car, he said, had been assigned to Ricardo. Heller drove that car through a rear entrance to a garage and parked it, he said, on or near a washrack.

Sgt. John Blackstock said that, about 9 o'clock on the morning of the fatality, he had found parked on Yates Street a damaged taxi which, he declared, bore the company number 410 in addition to the provincial licence number, 3085.

Sgt. Blackstock also testified that, accompanied by Motorcycle Constable J. D. Blackstock, he had gone to a local hotel in which, about 8 o'clock that morning, he found the accused. Fully clothed, save for shoes, Ricardo was lying on a bed, covered by an eiderdown quilt, the sergeant said, adding that it had been necessary to shake Ricardo in order to rouse him. Constable Blackstock confirmed Sergeant Blackstock's testimony concerning Ricardo.

The jury consists of L. W. Gosling, foreman; O. Day, S. F. Ireland, John McGrath, B. T. Leigh, C. B. Bailey, F. R. Parr, B. B. Currie, T. S. Milady, W. J. McDowell, E. L. Keyes and D. Fletcher.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TABLE SALT HOLDS EXCESS WATER IN THE TISSUES

When the heart is beginning to fail, the first symptom noted is shortness of breath after exertion, and especially after eating. Palpitation—hard beating of the heart—is another early symptom of a failing heart. Even lying down does not ease the shortness of breath or quiet down the palpitation for some minutes.

Another symptom to appear in early heart failure is swelling of the ankles or of the other parts, especially the liver.

The first thought in the treatment of early heart failure is to reduce the amount of work done by the heart by resting more, strengthening the power of the heart muscle yet quieting it if necessary. The drug used to strengthen the power of the heart is digitalis, which not only slows, steadies and strengthens the heart action, but helps to drive the water from the tissues. The work of the heart is greatly reduced by reducing the amount of water in the tissues.

In Southern Medicine and Surgery, Dr. J. M. McLester, Birmingham, the noted food and nutrition authority, makes the following suggestions in the treatment of heart patients.

"Weigh the patient every day; increase in weight is the first sign of excess fluid in the tissues. The increase in weight occurs several days before the appearance of liquid—swelling—in the ankles and other tissues. If the swelling (edema) is present or if the weight increases, have the patient stop using salt in his food and rest as much as possible." Excess water in the tissues must be removed by use of ammonium chloride, in 15 gram doses, three times daily for three days, if the low salt diet fails to remove it.

It should be of interest to overweights to know that while table salt is not only a necessity in the diet as are calcium, phosphorus and other salts, and also table salt makes foods more appetizing and more easily digested, nevertheless in overweight, in heart and blood vessel disease, table salt must be greatly reduced. It holds 70 times its own weight of water in the tissues.

Those of average weight or below normal weight can continue to take table salt with benefit.

Good Teaching Should Stimulate

OTTAWA, Nov. 4 (CP).—Good teaching should stimulate the desire of pupils to "fill up the gaps in knowledge later," the Earl of Athlone said last night in an address at commencement exercises at Carleton College here.

He said that what mattered in education is not the amount of information offered but the amount absorbed. Adult education was valuable in that mature persons are more likely to retain what they learn that they did in earlier years.

"I feel sure that I need hardly impress upon you the fact that the main object of adult education is to make a man or woman a better citizen. That object far transcends any matter of technical or vocational training or, indeed, any quest of knowledge for its own sake."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (AP).—Loss of the blimp K-94 with her eight-man crew as a result of fire was announced by the United States Navy today. The craft was destroyed while on a routine flight in the West Indies. No survivors were found.

Wave of Terror Sweeps Poland

LONDON, Nov. 4 (AP).—A new wave of terror and slaughter "on the largest scale ever organized by the Germans" in Poland was described tonight by Wladyslaw Banaczyk, Home Affairs Minister of the Polish Government here.

Banaczyk said in a statement that between October 10 and October 31, the Nazis broke loose on six separate shooting sprees in Warsaw in which their bullets brought death to 162 Poles, while in Gordno 100 more were assassinated.

He added that Poles had been slain en masse in Krakow, Kielce, Radom, Czestocohowa, Podlesia and Silesia, but gave no specific figures.

The Polish official said the "new mass cruelties" were due to "the Germans' panic and fear in the face of approaching defeat."

FREIGHTER SCUTTLED

HALIFAX, Nov. 4 (CP).—An Allied freighter today was lying submerged to the deckline outside the harbor mouth after being towed yesterday when she caught fire in Bedford Basin. The ship had to be beach and scuttled.

VIEW FINDERS

For well composed pictures like this one, carefully study your view finder before clicking the shutter.

RECENTLY a friend of mine said to me, "How can I make my pictures show just what I want them to show? Sometimes pictures I take include a whole lot more than I expect or want and sometimes they don't include enough. Sometimes the pictures come out with buildings not straight and sometimes part of the subject is cut off."

The answer to this question is very simple. My friend is not using the view finder of his camera properly.

The view finder is put on your camera for a very definite reason. It is not just a "peep sight" for you to use in locating your subject—rather, it is a frame for the picture you are going to get. You might call the scene in the view finder a preview of your final picture. The finder, if you use it properly, will show what you are going to get, and it will guide you in changing your position and viewpoint to improve your picture.

You should always study your picture in the finder before shooting. Train the camera on the main subject in your picture and then examine the scene in the view finder to see what else appears in the background, the foreground, and at the sides. Maybe there is too much surplus material included—that is, perhaps your subject is too small in relation to the amount of background that shows. In that case, you simply need to move closer. Or perhaps you are already too close and part of your subject is missing—for example, the head in a picture of a person, or possibly, if it is a group picture, one person on the end does not appear. In that case, your view finder tells you to move back or to the side until your subject and an appropriate amount of background are included.

Too many of us are quite careless in using the view finder. I've seen a picture taker locate his subject in the finder and then look up and look straight at the subject, ignoring the finder when he snapped the picture. Frequently, in a case like this, movement changes the camera position and the picture is quite lost.

There are different types of finders. Some are of the open frame or eye-level type and these are very simple to use. Others are the "brilliant" or reflecting type, used with the camera at waist level. When you are using a brilliant finder, it is very important to have your eye directly over the finder. If you hold your eye slightly to one side instead of directly above it, you do not see the exact scene at which the camera is aimed. Be careful on this point and see that your picture is carefully framed in the finder.

Trust your view finder. Study what you see in it, and make sure you actually see what you think you see.—John van Guilder.
